

Board chooses three finalists To head West Elementary

By Lisa Boudreau

West Elementary Assistant Principal Charlie Friel is one of two finalists the School Committee interviewed Tuesday to take over the principalship when Jack Coyle retires this month.

The other two finalists are Kathleen Borys, principal of the Leonard Elementary School in Lawrence, and Michael Jacobson, principal of Essex Elementary School in Essex.

Mr. Friel has been the assistant principal at West Elementary School since 1987. This month he is celebrating his 20th year in the Andover public school system.

He started as a classroom teacher at Bancroft and taught fourth, fifth and sixth grade there for nine years. In 1981 he transferred to West Elementary where he taught in the classroom until he was named assistant principal six years later.

Here's how/when Andover's water system began

This is the first in an occasional series on Andover's water, written by members of the Water Conservation Committee.

By Katherine Kloss

The history of Andover's municipal water system began in 1886 when a distribution system was constructed to provide fire protection to Andover Village, the present center of town. The water source was Rabbits Pond, a small pond located on the Minister and his wife perform marriage counseling together

By Lisa Boudreau

Christ Church rector, the Rev. James Diamond, and his wife, Barbara Diamond, have been married 22 years. During that time they've worked as a team counseling couples engaged to be married in the Episcopal church.

Sitting in the study of their Central Street home, in the same room they meet with couples, it is apparent the Diamonds are comfortable talking about love, marriage and commitment. They often finish each other's sentences.

Pre-marriage counseling makes perfect sense, said Rev. Diamond. Like any major step in life, he believes people should be prepared.

Alcohol may be allowed at Rec Park

By Don Staruk

The Board of Selectmen Monday night debated abolishing the board's policy, which was set just three months ago, banning the consumption of alcohol on town property.

Selectmen in March adopted a policy banning alcohol on town property except for at Old Town Hall, where it had to be served by a licensed and insured bar service. The question came up this week because 'My mom is the world's best!'

The Andover Center Association recently sponsored a contest on mothers. Participants in three age categories wrote essays on why their mother is the best in the world. Ruth Bell Clark, age 37, of 1 Lansbury Lane, was the winner in the adult category. Her essay is reprinted here. Junilo and Madinson Ortega of Lawrence, ages 10 and 11, and 7-year-old Meredith Voiland, of 2 Patriot Drive, were also winners. Their entries will be printed in future Townsman issues.

The house where he lived, learned and loved

By Brad Pearson

A current photograph of 253 Andover St., printed in conjunction with the recent historical preservation awards (Andover Townsman, May 21 and on this page), illustrated how architectural values can be protected and promoted by homeowners with a sense of history. It was a deserved tribute.

For me, that home will always bring back memories of additional values deserving of remembrance.

In earlier years (1894-1966), 253 Andover St. sheltered four generations of the Pearson family. The original owner, Charles Henry Pearson, a coachman at the Ballard Vale Mill, lived there from 1894 until his death in 1914, and he willed it to his second wife, Martha (Lawrence) Pearson. Upon her death in 1926, it was inherited by Charles' son, Roy Messer Pearson Sr., and, with his wife, he owned it from 1926 until his death 40 years later.

Roy Messer Pearson Sr. and his wife, Bessie May (Ricker) Pearson, were my paternal grandparents. We knew them as Nana and Grampy. Some of my fondest childhood memories are associated with their home. I enjoyed BEFORE: This is 253 Andover St. in about 1940.

AFTER: This is 253 Andover St. in 1992, the winner of an Andover Historical Society and Andover Historical Commission preservation certificate. school vacations and (thoroughly spoiled) endured childhood illnesses there. With my parents and sister, I devoured innumerable Sunday lamb dinners served by my grandmother from the wood stove in the dining room and, afterward, sat on my grandfather's lap in his favorite chair, safe and secure within the circle of his gentle arms.

Some of the values taught within that cozy home took a little boy decades to fully understand. Shelling peas with Nana from their vegetable garden and "helping" Grampy carry in wood for the stove exposed me to the value of work.

From the frequency and regularity with which my parents, my sister and I visited them, and from the care my parents gave Nana during her final illness, I began to learn the value of family. When Nana and Grampy died, I started to comprehend why the values of some lives can be immortal and how love will endure at least as long as cherished memory.

I don't clearly remember the last time I saw Nana and Grampy, arm in arm, waving goodbye to us from the back porch of their home as my parents, my sister and I drove away following a visit. I was little more than a boy then and didn't understand that any farewell can be forever.

But in the years that have passed, I have come to clearly appreciate the value they placed on love. Somewhat uncomfortable with words, neither of them, to the best of my memory, ever told me they loved me. They simply let their actions speak for them. Those actions were more eloquent than any words because their grandson has always had as a treasured keepsake – the absolute, indelible knowledge that he was and is loved by two people who made 253 Andover

St. their home. Nana and Grampy lived their love and left me that as their lasting legacy.

Nana died in 1959 and Grampy seven years later. Shortly after his death, a water pipe broke in the house, flooding the basement. Somehow it seemed timely: Their home had tears to mingle with our own.

Life moves on. I (Continued on page 39)

NEWS IN BRIEF

Habitat to hold a phonathon

Habitat for Humanity, the organization that builds low-cost housing for those who otherwise could not afford decent housing, will hold its first annual giving campaign phonathon the evenings of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 8, 9 and 10.

Debbie Doherty of Locke Street is organizing the event. The phone calls will be made from the offices of J.B. Doherty on Bartlet Street.

Bike group to meet Tuesday

The Andover Bicycle Committee will meet Tuesday, June 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the town office building on Bartlet Street.

The committee is working on plans for summer bicycle events, efforts to promote bicycle safety in Andover, and to educate the public about bicycling.

The public is invited.

The Andover public schools are participating in the USDA Summer Food Service Program for Children. Free meals are provided to attending children 18 years of age and under.

Listed below are the standards used in determining program eligibility effective July 1 to June 30, 1993.

At last week's annual meeting of ABC, A Better Chance, Andover High Principal Tim Thomas, left, received the President's Award from ABC president Bill Webber, at right. The award was created to recognize the highest achievement in volunteerism for the benefit of ABC. Mr. Thomas joined ABC in 1986 and has been liaison between AHS and ABC those years. "He has consistently stressed academic excellence, been able to relate to the ABC students and provided helpful guidance so they could understand and become part of the high school body," Mr. Webber said while making the award. During the meeting, the three ABC students who are graduating from the high school spoke. They are India Faison, Alison-Nicole Haughton and Lakisha Williams.

Chamber plans June 16 mixer

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce will hold a Summer Mixer Tuesday, June 16, at 5 p.m. at Royal Crest Estates, North Andover.

Tables are available for businesses to display promotional literature. There will be door prizes.

Tickets are $5 reserved, $7 at the door. Call 686-0900 or 794-9953.

Focus group cancelled

Due to a scheduling conflict, the Townsmen's June 11 focus group has been cancelled. The newspaper will reschedule and let the public know when the next discussion of the newspaper is scheduled.

Correction

In the special section, New Building, published last week, the name of Hastings Floor Co. of North Andover and Gerogetown was left off the list of firms that were involved in building and putting together the new Townsmen building at 33 Chestnut St. Hastings Floor Co. did the kitchen and bathroom floors, as well as the carpeting in the building.

Board chooses three West finalists

During his tenure in Andover, Mr. Friel, who lives in Groveland with his wife, Linda, and two daughters, Daniel a college student and Gillian a sixth-grader, has co-chaired the elementary math steering committee for curriculum, and co-taught a pilot math training course for teachers.

"I'd like to continue some of the initiatives begun at West Elementary," under retiring Principal Jack Coyle, he told the committee Tuesday night.

He said his strengths are his communication skills, the rapport he has built within the large West Elementary tary community - staff, students and parents and his knowledge of the school system. West Elementary has 900 students ranging from kindergarten to grade-five students.

Ms. Borys, a 24-year veteran of the Lawrence public school system, said she wants to work in Andover because the town is known for excellence. She also said she would like to work in a system that has the stability Lawrence has not been able to offer.

During her tenure in Lawrence, Ms. Borys has been a first-grade teacher and a fifth-grade teacher, as well as an assistant principal and a principal of a kindergarten through grade-two school and a principal at a grade-three through grade-eight school.

One of her strengths, she told the committee Tuesday night, is that she has lead a school as large as the West Elementary. One of her assignments before the Leonard Elementary School was a 950-student school that was divided into two sites, she said.

Ms. Borys said another strength she'd bring to Andover is her experience in successful grant proposal writing.

Board chooses three West Elementary finalists

"If I could do what I did in Lawrence, I could really flourish in Andover and help Andover flourish," she said.

Ms. Borys lives in North Andover with her husband, Stephen, and three sons, Stephen, 24, Jay, 22, and Jeff, 19.

Mr. Jacobson spent the first 17 years of his educational career as a classroom teacher in Cambridge. He then worked as an assistant principal in Essex for three years before being named principal of the 340-student Essex Elementary School.

Mr. Jacobson described himself to the committee as "the teachers' administrator who always does what's best for the children."

He said his strengths are in developing multi-faceted, hands-on courses for elementary-aged children. Mr. Jacobson illustrated this point by describing a project he initiated in Essex.

In the center of his school is a grass courtyard where he arranged to have a flock of sheep, borrowed from a local farmer. During the school year, he and the staff created a program where students learned everything from animal care and community history, when they researched farming, to practical arts when they built an ensure for the animals.

"At first people thought I was crazy, then they saw all the practical applications that could be done. The following year they wanted to know what we were bringing to the courtyard next," he said.

Mr. Jacobson lives in Bradford with his wife, Ann, and his three sons, Ariel, 7, Morgan, 3, and Ramie, 1.

During the next two weeks, Superintendent Mark McQuillan will visit the three finalists' schools and conduct more interviews with them and their co-workers. He will make his recommendation to the School Committee at its next meeting, Tuesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the school office building. The committee will either approve the superintendent's first choice or vote on another finalist.

In other business

The committee will also discuss enrollment projects for next September at its June 16 meeting, said Susan Jenkins, committee chairwoman.

"They look higher than expected, especially at South School and in some grade levels at West Middle and for some core curriculum areas like English at the High School," she told the Townsmen Wednesday.

9 named to School Building Committee

By law, towns must appoint a School Building Committee to prioritize solutions for crowded schools.

The members of the committee are Kenneth Gropper, 32 Farrwood Drive; James Marsh, 17 Nutmeg Lane; Susan Davis, 2 Cricket Circle; Doug Hamilton, 8 Harding St.; Justin DeMarco, 4 Franklin Ave.; Marjorie Dennis, 18 Orchard Crossing; William Marlow, 42 Juniper Road; Nancy Stolberg, 1 Cheever Circle; and David Reilly, 1 Summer St.

The first eight members were appointed by Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski and Mr. Reilly, the schools' accountant, was appointed ed to the SBC by the School Committee.

The SBC's job will be to review the data compiled by the redistricting committee, which met this school year and evaluated crowding in the town's eight schools. That committee concluded that South and Sanborn elementary schools needed space for at least 450 more students each and that the high school would experience crowding within the next three to five years.

No date has been set for the first meeting of the SBC, but all meetings will be open to the public and subject to Massachusetts Open Meeting laws. The Townsmen will list the dates, times and locations of scheduled SBC meetings.

Selectmen are considering allowing alcohol at Rec Park

Andover Bank has rented Recreation Park, on Abbot Street, for a company outing June 24 and has asked for special permission to serve beer and wine. Prior to the selectmen's adoption of the policy in March, alcohol was allowed at Rec Park.

Selectmen put off making a decision until their June 15 meeting on whether they acted in haste in creating the policy and whether it should be revoked.

The purpose of the policy was to cut the town's exposure from any accidents on town property, according to Buzz Stapczynski, town manager.

"It was really a question of liability," Mr. Stapczynski said.

Selectman Larry Larsen questioned the difference between allowing alcohol at Rec Park and at Old Town Hall, if a licensed server were used.

Mr. Stapczynski said a lack of walls at Rec Park made it more difficult to control who was being served. He also said that there is more of an outdoor beach-party atmosphere at Rec Park "where people might imbibe more" than at Old Town Hall.

Andover Bank rented the park knowing full well that alcohol was not allowed, according to Selectman Gerald Silverman. He said he fears many of the other groups that have rented the park facilities for the summer will come back and also request special permission to serve alcohol.

Andover Bank's request is approved.

"If we open the door, we might as well throw out the policy," Mr. Silverman said. "We either go one way or keep them all out."

Selectman Bill Downs agreed that issuing any permit for alcohol conflicts with the intent of the policy and said that maybe the policy was set in haste.

'If we open the door, we might as well throw out the policy.'

Selectman Gerald Silverman

Mr. Stapczynski said that requiring a licensed caterer for the alcohol is not unreasonable for a business outing, but that the cost would be prohibitive for some of the private outings at the park.

Selectman James Barenboim pointed out that that requirement would not be any more prohibitive than it is at Old Town Hall.

Mr. Silverman asked the town manager to get a list of other groups that have rented the park for the summer for the selectmen's review prior to the June 15 board meeting. He also asked for a written opinion from town counsel on the town's liability exposure if the policy were reversed.

Selectmen will also consider whether, if the policy is reversed, a police officer should be required to be on duty during functions at the park.

Block parties

The question of alcohol came up again at last Monday night's meeting when the board was asked to approve closing two or three streets for block parties this summer. Mr. Barenboim pointed out that the town's laws don't allow alcohol to be consumed on public ways anyway and that the permission to close a street to traffic does not mean that the town laws no longer apply.

The block party requests were approved.

disabled and two others were laid off last June.

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said Tuesday he intends to fill Officer Aumais' position.

"I have every intention in the world of filling it. The question is how," Mr. Stapczynski said. "That's something the chief (James Johnson) and I have talked about." Some of the options include picking a new hire from the Civil Service list or taking a candidate from a rehire list of officers laid off from other towns. It costs about $60,000 to train a rookie officer.

Six officers, four patrolmen, a sergeant and a lieutenant, are currently out injured or disabled. That makes it difficult to consider cutting the position to reduce the budget, according to Mr. Stapczynski. The department is already having to bring officers back on overtime to cover shifts, he said.

Patrolman Matt Aumais

"Because of all these things, the simple answer is, yes, we'll have to fill it. I can't afford to leave it vacant. We don't have that luxury," Mr. Stapczynski said.

AHS graduate

Officer Aumais, 24, of Andover, is a 1985 graduate of Andover High School. He was a full-time student at the University of Lowell, (now the University of Massachusetts at Lowell), before he was hired in September of 1988. He continued classes part time and needs about five courses to finish his bachelor's degree in criminal justice. But that is now on hold for about a year, Officer Aumais said Tuesday.

"I start the fifteenth at New Braintree," he said.

He will spend five days a week at the academy in New Braintree for 18 weeks, and expects the training will be extremely difficult.

"I don't even think being a police officer helps," Mr. Aumais said.

But he is looking forward to moving over to the state force.

"This is something I've always wanted to do. In my mind they're the best. It's the opportunity of a lifetime," he said.

Officer Aumais and his wife, Ann, bought a house about a year ago and the patrolman said he is trying not to even think about the pay cut he will be taking for the first couple of years.

His base pay as a rookie officer for the state will be less than his current $31,000 base salary pay for Andover. There will be no opportunity for overtime during at least his 18 weeks in the academy, and he is used to working a lot of overtime and details in Andover.

He said he will also miss the "close group of friends" he has made working the 1-9 a.m. shift.

"I've made some good friends. That's the toughest part about leaving. That, and I liked working with my father," he said.

Officer Aumais is the son of Patrolman Dick Aumais, a 33-year veteran of the force.

Board backs childcare at Town Meetings

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night heard from a group of residents interested in setting up day care at night for children during town meetings so that their parent can attend the meetings. (See related letter, page 43.)

Richard Soo Hoo, of 17 Wolcott Ave., said a group of 25 to 30 people are interested in helping organize the program. It could be set up at Doherty Middle School or at the Andover High School, he said.

North Andover already has a similar program and it is very successful and addressed the problem of getting a quorum at town meeting, according to Mr.

Soo Hoo.

Norma Gammon, of 115 Abbot St. and a former selectman, said the town used to have a babysitting program when town meeting was on Saturday.

Selectmen encouraged Mr. Soo Hoo to continue working with the town manager in putting together such a program.

"I think anything we can do to improve the numbers at town meeting would be worthwhile," Chairman Charles Wesson said.

Wingate HealthCare president Scott Schuster, fourth from left, announced at a healthcare forum, "Financing Issues, Options and Challenges for LongTerm Care," at Old Town Hall last week that the firm gave donations to three local organizations actively involved in healthcare services to the elderly. Barbara Brandt-Saret, far left, director of community programs for Elder Services of Merrimack Valley, received a $250 check. Wendell Coltin, second from left, received $250 on behalf of the Hale Hospital Scholarship Foundation in honor of his late wife, Lucy Coltin. Mr. Coltin was also a speaker at the forum. Mary Byrne, third from left, director of the Andover Council on Aging, received $500 for the council's work in Andover, which includes operating the Senior Center. Also in the photo are Bill Dalton, second from right, who moderated the day's forum, and Anne Proli, far right, a speaker at the forum. The firm making the awards, Wingate HealthCare, opens Wingate at Andover in July, its newest nursing and rehabilitative care facility, at 80 Andover St.

Elder Services receives AT&T grant

Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley Inc., 360 Essex St., Lawrence, has received grant funding provided by the AT&T Family Care Development Fund to establish a comprehensive volunteer resource network to assist elders throughout the Greater Merrimack Valley.

The AT&T Family Care Development Fund is a joint project of AT&T, The Communications Workers of America and The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Its goal is to increase the supply and improve the quality of child- and elder-care services available to AT&T employees nationwide.

The Elder Care In-Home Volunteer Program is designed to link elders with existing volunteer programs within their community by providing transportation, companionship, telephone reassurance, shopping and respite care.

In addition, the program will serve as a clearinghouse for elder care volunteer opportunities, establish a volunteer referral mechanism and assist Merrimack Valley Councils on Aging in volunteer program development.

"This is an opportunity to expand elder care services to include a number of volunteer programs that can provide elders with greater independence and give families an additional resource within their own community," said Roseanne DiStefano, executive director of Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley.

"Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley is fortunate to have AT&T's support in developing this project. By working together, we can address AT&T employee needs and also expand elder care support services to many other elder residents within the Merrimack Valley," added Elaine Rotolo, volunteer program coordinator.

The Elder Care In-Home Volunteer Program will begin by assessing existing volunteer resources now serving the elder community and assisting Council on Aging staff in developing additional volunteer recruitment, training and placement strategies. The program has been funded for a one-year period.

For more information regarding the Elder Care In-Home Volunteer Program contact Elaine Rotolo at 683-7747.

Kids' shoe store opens with a bang

By Neil Fater

There must have been a very loud sigh from Main Street Sunday night. After weeks of preparation, the new children's shoe store, opened at 27 Main St. and afterward, while Dino Dave rested his prehistoric feet and storyteller Elisa Pearmain rested her vocal chords, John Daher, Joyce Belko and staff just plain rested.

"I had my best night's sleep last night," said Mr. Daher, co-owner of the new Daher's For Kids with his sister, Ms. Belko, Monday morning.

That good night's sleep was a rare occurrence. The opening of Daher's For Kids was the second store opening of the month for the Dahering duo, both of whom have been putting in long hours.

"The response was tremendous," said Mr. Daher.

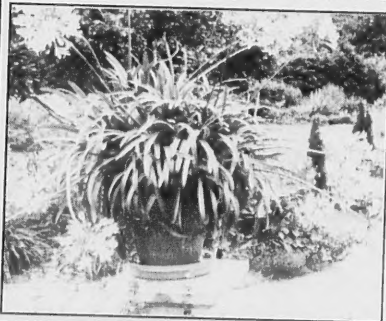

"Storybook Theatre was phenomenal...500 people attended between the two shows." In addition to Storybook Theatre, which took place across the street from the store, in Old Town Hall, local libraries set up tables promoting literacy, women's athletic club Silverado put on aerobic demonstrations, and Stride Rite mascot Dino Dave made an appearance.

"This was a very fun opening with the kids and the balloons," said Mr. Daher. "It was very successful."

"Dino Dave was a big hit. That was one of the reasons we needed the policeman. Whenever he (Dino Dave) was, the kids wanted to be."

The store opened earlier than expected. The original opening for the store had been set for Sunday, the day of Storybook Theatre, but the store was able to prop its doors ajar for the first time Friday.

Kids' clothing store moving here from No.Andover

By Lisa Boudreau

Two Andover sisters will move their children's clothing store, Sophistikid, from North Andover to Main Street, Andover. Louisa Tanner and Mary Stabile will open their store at 92 Main St. where Sparky Sports currently is located. The children's clothing store will be in business as of July 13.

Sparky Sports is consolidating its merchandise to its Methuen store.

Sophistikid has been doing business in North Andover for the past two years, said Ms. Tanner.

"We wanted to move to Andover because there is a lot more exposure on Main Street and more activity in the downtown area," she said.

She and her sister, both Andover High School graduates, opened their store more than two years ago, because as mothers they felt there was a need for local, reasonably priced children's clothes with a good selection, Ms. Tanner said.

'We wanted to move to Andover because there is a lot more exposure on Main Street and more activity in the downtown area.'

Louisa Tanner

She and her husband, Tim Tanner, have three children and her sister and brother-in-law, Andover firefighter Bob Stabile, have one child.

Sophistikid carries newborn to preteen sizes for girls, and newborn to size 14 for boys in sports clothes, better dresses, outerwear and accessories, she said. The store also has a consigner business.

Ms. Tanner and Ms. Stabile will accept children's clothes that are "in good condition and in current fashion" on a 50-50 split, with the customer's 50 percent paid in a store credit.

"The consignment business helps take a bit out of the price of clothing at a time when everything is so expensive," Ms. Tanner said.

Besides offering clothing and accessories at reasonable prices, Ms. Tanner said Sophistikid also offers services many other children's clothing stores don't.

"We offer free gift wrapping and we will ship items out of town for customers," she said.

The store will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Ms. Tanner said she is considering remaining open one night, or scheduling appointments by phone for customers who can only shop in the evening.

Common Threads sells needlework

Street behind the House of Clean, three weeks ago. In addition to cotton, silk and wool threads she also stocks all cross stitch, needlepoint and embroidery supplies.

"If I don't have what people are looking for in stock, I can order all sorts of patterns and fibers," she said.

In the front of the store Ms. Deloury has a selection of handmade crafts from local artisans. Those include jewelry, decorated furniture, silk flower arrangements and dolls and other toys. Even though she has a wide variety of crafts for sale, Ms. Deloury is still looking for more wares to display and sell in her store.

Her needlework supplies and kits are not just for the experienced stitcher, she said.

Ms. Deloury sells beginner kits as well as some very involved patterns and kits for more experienced people looking for challenging needlework. In the fall she plans to offer lessons in needlework techniques, including cross stitch, needle point and embroidery.

Common Threads is open Monday through Saturday, 10 to 5:30.

SCHOOLS

Shawsheen hires buses

Many parents have expressed interest in using a bus to transport their children to the Shawsheen School. Since the school administration is not offering transportation, the Shawsheen Parent-Teacher Organization has worked out an arrangement with Parent Bus Co. to run two buses to Shawsheen School starting this fall.

The "south" bus will cover the South and Bancroft school districts and the "west" bus will cover the West and Sanborn school districts. The tentative routes are available in the Shawsheen School office.

The PTO will sign a contract for each bus, if at least 25 families commit to pay for the bus. Since each bus will cost about $10,000, the cost will be a maximum of $100 per family (not per student) for the school year. If more than 25 families sign up for the bus, the cost may be lower.

The buses will run twice a day, picking up the students in time for the 8:15 a.m. start of the day and returning them home after school ends at 2:15 p.m. Kindergarten students in the morning extended day program may ride the bus to school, and they will be met by a SHED teacher. Kindergarten students using afternoon SHED may ride the bus home and will be put on the bus by SHED teachers at 2:45 p.m.

Students who only ride the bus in one direction will pay a maximum of $300. This would include kindergarten students who will not use SHED, as well as students who ride the bus in the morning and will be picked up by parents at the end of the day.

Hair-raising experience

Julie Pratt of Andover won the first-place award in the annual hair styling show at Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute. A student in the one-year School of Cosmetology, she presented an evening style.

A gift from Bull

Sanborn gets 50 trees

Bull HN Information Systems donated 50 trees and classroom materials to Sanborn Elementary School to help students learn about the environment while helping to protect it. The donation is part of Bull's worldwide environmental and reforestation program called Arbor.

"I am glad that we can help the youngsters of Andover understand the importance that trees play in adding beauty to our lives and protecting the health of our planet," said Diane Riemer of Andover, a Bull employee, during the presentation.

Bull, though its employees, is making more than 15,000 trees available to schools throughout Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The accompanying classroom package is called Global ReLeaf Classroom Mini-Guides, which were developed by the American Forestry Association in association with Bull. The guide, which includes five lesson plans, is appropriate for elementary or junior high school students and is endorsed by the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Bull implements Arbor by working closely with the Forestry Association on several Global ReLeaf projects. This cooperation resulted in the distribution of more than 6,000 classroom guides to school teachers across the country.

In Massachusetts alone, Bull, in cooperation with the Mass ReLeaf program of the state Office of Environmental Affairs, distributed 1,000 guides.

Eileen Woods, principal of Sanborn, said the trees were given to the students to plant at home "so that they could watch them grow."

Bull has also sponsored tree-planting programs in Africa to help areas devastated by overpopulation and has helped replant a forest in France that was destroyed by fire, Ms. Riemer said.

PA pushes for black professors

A new rise in the number of African-American master's and Ph.D. degree candidates is expected in the next year due to the efforts of an institute started at Phillips Academy to recruit black students for careers in college and high school teaching.

By the fall of 1993, the Andover-Woodrow Wilson Institute for the Recruitment of Teachers will have placed more than 110 participants, including 60 black students, into graduate programs leading to master's and Ph.D. degrees in the humanities and social sciences.

The institute's year-round program provides black, Hispanic and Native American students with placement and financial support.

An intensive four-week summer program prepares students for the rigors of graduate school (IRT provides a $1,000 stipend and covers travel, room and board) and guides students into graduate programs at a consortium of 20 colleges and universities.

"There is a dire shortage of minority students enrolling in graduate programs," says Kelly Wise, director of IRT and former dean of faculty at Phillips Academy. "Yet, ironically, there is a great need now in collegiate institutions, and also certain secondary schools, to hire minority faculty. Unless minority students are lured significantly into fields of education and graduate study, by 1995 the recruitment problem will reach crisis dimensions."

The students will attend classes for seven hours a day and four hours on Saturdays and write at least three papers a week. They will be taught by black and minority faculty from the nation's top schools.

The IRT is valuable not only as a learning experience, but also for the opportunity it affords its students in finding role models in education who inspire as well as teach, Mr. Wise says.

"You get views from people of color and you can relate," says Stacy Brown, a social work major at the University of Dayton interested in community development and teaching at the community college level. "It's where you've been. You don't have to explain things."

The IRT program is "a real call to service," says former IRT student Lisette Nieves, now a Rhodes Scholar and faculty member this year. "The fact that you've benefited from role models ... you have a responsibility to pay that back. Being a teacher is a crucial way of contributing."

This year's IRT faculty include the director of Brown University's Institute for Secondary Education and professors from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and University of Rhode Island.

This summer's program will run July 6 through Aug. 2 on the Phillips campus. The IRT is seeking funding to clone a second institute at Princeton University in 1993.

The institute was established in 1990 at Phillips Academy with contributions from academy alumni and regional business people.

ASK Team plans benefit golf classic

The Assessment, Support, Knowledge Team and Department of Community Services will hold their fourth annual golf classic, the Andover Service Open, Wednesday, June 24, at the Crystal Springs Golf Club in Haverhill.

Proceeds will be donated to youth drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs in the Andover school system, including Project Charlie, Students Against Drunk Driving, Kids for Kids and Parent to Parent.

Area residents and businesses can support the event by sponsoring a tee, making a donation or taking part in a day of golf.

Call Brenda O'Brien at 470-3800, Ext. 368, or Peg Campbell, Ext. 285.

Youngsters at the Andover School of Montessori in North Andover learned about disabilities recently through a special Easter Seal program.

The Easter Seal Hop-n-ing teaches children the causes of disabilities and their effects on people's lives, and how wheelchairs and crutches work.

Then the program gives kids a chance to help. They hop as many times as they can in three minutes, earning money pledged for each hop.

Funds raised help provide Easter Seal services, such as summer camp, therapeutic swim programs and physical, occupational and speech therapy.

Residents receive UNH degrees

Three Andover students graduated from the University of New Hampshire in Durham, N.H., May 23.

Jill M. Coon, daughter of Bill and Sharon Coon of 27 Korinthian Way, received a bachelor of science degree in business administration and English.

Ms. Coon was the former president of Chi Omega sorority and belonged to the Order of Omega honor society at UNH. Her summer plans include a five-week trip throughout Europe.

Kimberly E. Guild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Guild Jr. of 14 Algonquin Ave., received a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

Ms. Guild, a dean's list student, was the advertising director for UNH's Main Street magazine. She plans to move to Washington, D.C., to work with a government relations firm while pursuing a master of business administration degree.

Kimberly G. Wilkins, daughter of Richard and Camille Wilkins of 29 Smithshire Estates, received a bachelor of arts degree in communication.

While a junior at UNH, Ms. Wilkins pursued art studies in London and participated in Walt Disney World's college program, where she studied marketing.

Others graduate from various colleges

Three Andover residents were awarded bachelor of science degrees May 9 from New Hampshire College in Manchester, N.H.

They are Brian E. Bodmer, who majored in computer information systems; Gary F. Higgins, business studies/business administration; and Lisa C. Turner, business studies/marketing.

Ruth Guevara of Andover has graduated from the manicuring program at the Lowell Academy Hairstyling Institute.

Cynthia Abbott Sullivan has received a master of business administration degree from Babson College in Wellesley.

Ms. Sullivan is employed at New Directions Inc. in Boston. She also runs her own business, American Malacology, which publishes and distributes books on sea shells.

A graduate of Philadelphia High School for Girls, Ms. Sullivan earned a bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Hampshire and master of education degree from Northeastern University.

She and her husband, Kevin J. Sullivan, live in Andover.

Lia Gershenberg, daughter of Irving and Linnea Gershenberg of Lowell Street, received a master of social work from Simmons College in Boston.

Ms. Gershenberg holds a bachelor of arts from the University of Massachusetts. She is a resident of Somerville.

Kristen Mainero of Bridges Lane received a bachelor of arts degree in history from Cabrini College in Radnor, Pa., during recent commencement ceremonies.

Woman presents honor thesis

Erika Sandler of Andover, a senior majoring in English at Fairleigh Dickinson University in New Jersey, presented her honors thesis at University Honors Research Day.

The thesis is the culmination of her work in the honors program.

Ms. Sandler chose "Analysis of the Speakers in Blake's Songs" as her topic because of her love of poetry and what she calls intriguing qualities in William Blake's work.

Ms. Sandler

She has represented the honors program at two prestigious conferences. At the National Northeast Regional Honors Conference she presented "The Role of the Progressive Forum on the Environment."

At another conference, she presented research on "The Changes in Business in the 1990s" and, specifically, the changes in point-of-purchase and point-of-sale advertising.

Ms. Sandler is currently interning at Young & Rubicam in New York City and hopes to pursue a career in national television advertising.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald & Pamela Lebowitz HOUSE-HUNTING COMPROMISES

Every home purchase involves a certain amount of compromise. It's important that you give the Realtor with whom you are working a pretty clear idea of which criteria are flexible and what you really must have in your new home.

If, for example, you prefer a specific location, discuss why you want that neighborhood. The Realtor might be able to suggest alternatives that you hadn't considered and that offer the same amenities or convenience to your office. How important is size? Do you really need four bedrooms, or would three bedrooms work if there was an extra den for your home office? How much are you willing to correct with redecorating or remodeling? Are you willing to expand your price range by using an adjustable rate mortgage to increase your buying power?

When we ask prospective buyers a lot of questions, we're trying to use your house-hunting time most efficiently, and to show you houses that really do have possibilities for you and your family.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Century 21 Minuteman Realty. Please call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 2 Elm Square.

Camp Evergreen horses around

Camp Evergreen in Andover, a coed day camp for children ages 3 1/2 to 14, has added horseback riding to its activities.

Ken Edwards, an instructor with 17 years' experience of teaching everyone from beginners to champion riders, will bring his expertise to the program.

Mr. Edwards runs his own riding school, which adjoins the camp property. This enables easy coordination for including the English-style riding lessons with other offerings of the camp. Jumping lessons will be offered for the more advanced.

Instruction in swimming, tennis, archery, papermaking, ceramics, nature, woodshop and all aspects of sports are major activities of the day camp.

The camp staff emphasizes sensitivity to the environment, said Jim Loscutt, director of the 29-year-old camp. The 10-week Indian Summer program stresses Riding instructor Ken Edwards teaches Allie Loscutt off the finer points of horseback riding in a new program offered at Camp Evergreen on Jenkins Road.

Native American culture.

All activities take place rain or shine. The horseback riding program has the advantage of a large enclosed riding ring for rainy or hot days, Mr. Edwards said.

Camp Evergreen will hold an open house Sunday, June 7, from noon to 3 p.m. to introduce Mr. Edwards as well as some of the other instructors and camp counselors. Mr. Edwards will be on the premises with some of his four-footed friends and will show the riding facilities at 3 p.m.

Camp Evergreen is still enrolling for the coming summer. For information, call 475-2502.

Andover campus has classes

School won't be out for the summer at Northern Essex Community College.

Several courses will be offered June 22-Aug. 14 at the Haverhill and Lawrence campuses and at the Andover extension campus at Greater Lawrence Technical School.

Courses cover a variety of disciplines including art, business and computers. For a full schedule, call the college's division of continuing education.

DCS registers camps

The Department of Community Services is continuing registration for its summer camps and playgrounds at the town offices during regular business hours. DCS offers the following camp and playground programs for preschoolers to 16-year-olds. Non-residents will be charged additional fees.

• Camp Shree-Hee for children ages 3 and 4 is held at Shawsheen School from 9 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday.

Parents may register their children for a partial week (Tuesday/Thursday or Monday/Wednesday/Friday) or a full week. This enrichment and recreational playground helps children explore creative play with others their own age. For many, the program provides a first-time opportunity to socialize and learn to function in a group setting. The child-to-staff ratio is 5:1.

Mothers' group sets book drive

The Mother Connection community service group will sponsor a magazine and book drive. The group will collect magazines and paperbacks to be distributed to elderly people living in local nursing homes and basic math and English textbooks for the Essex County Correctional Center.

Collection is Monday through Friday, June 8-12. Dropoff times are 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the homes of Sherrie Espy, 3 Hanson Road, 470-3112; Andrea Lederfine, 6 West Parish Drive, 470-2381; and Suzanne Knight, 7 Ellsworth Road, 685-1390. If the times are inconvenient, call the members.

Summer's the perfect time for a story

Summer activities in Memorial Hall Library's children's room will begin soon, and fliers are now available with full details.

Story Garden, a six-week series for 3-4- and 5-year-olds, will begin at the end of the month, as will the library's summer edition of Pajama Party, when kids can come dressed in their PJs for an evening story hour.

And readers of all ages, as well as "almost readers," will be encouraged to keep up with their reading during the summer in "Set Sail for Reading Adventure."

Children's librarian Kate Belczyk will offer a six-week nautical program called Sea Rovers for 9- to 12-year-olds on Tuesday evenings.

And artist Betul Arins will lead an art workshop for children in grades one and up on Wednesday afternoons.

The Borrowers book club for fourth- to sixth-graders meets Thursdays.

STUDENTS IN THE NEWS

Young writers' work honored

Tracy Ann Burkholder, a recent graduate of Connecticut College in New London, was recognized at the college's annual honors and awards ceremony. She received an honorable mention for the Benjamin T. Marshall Prize for the best original poem.

Ms. Burkholder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Burkholder of 1 Stafford Lane and a 1988 graduate of Andover High School.

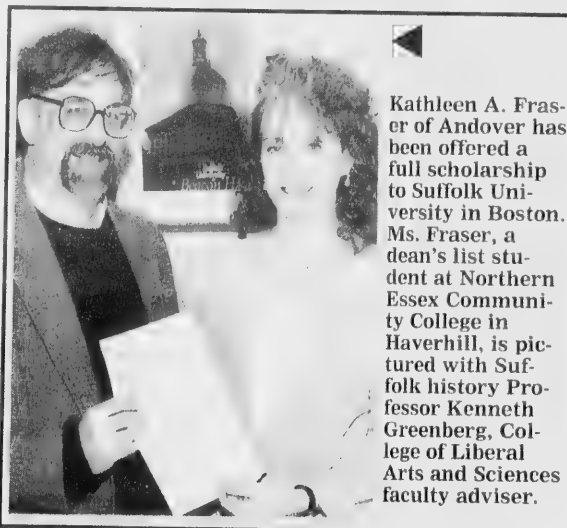

Sandra Corbett of Andover is among 26 University of Michigan students who received honors in the 61st annual Avery Hopwood and Jule Hopwood Awards in Creative Writing.

They will share $31,000 in prizes. In other creative writing contests administered by the U-M Hopwood program, seven students received $5,150 in prizes.

Novelist Richard Ford, author of The Sportswriter, The Ultimate Good Luck and Wildlife, delivered the Hopwood Lecture at the April ceremony.

Funded by a bequest from U-M alumnus and Broadway playwright Avery Hopwood, the awards are divided into a major category open to seniors and graduate students and a minor category for undergraduates.

Ms. Corbett, who is a graduate student, won the Chamberlain Award of $1,000.

Kathleen A. Fraser of Andover has been offered a full scholarship to Suffolk University in Boston. Ms. Fraser, a dean's list student at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill, is pictured with Suffolk history Professor Kenneth Greenberg, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences faculty adviser.

Grad student named fellow

Ian Lane Davis of 186 Elm St. received a National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship award.

The fellowship will provide a maximum tenure of three years that may be used over a period of five years if required.

Mr. Davis, son of Dr. J. David and Attorney Jean Davis is a first-year graduate student as a Ph.D. candidate in the robotics program at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pa.

He is a 1991 graduate of Dartmouth College, where he earned a degree in English, mathematics and computer science summa cum laude. He graduated from Phillips Academy in 1987.

Freshman spends summer abroad

Sonja Behling of Andover will participate in the Summer Semester in England Program through Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa. Ms. Behling, a freshman, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Helmut H. Behling of 24 Blueberry Hill Road.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

SHRINKING POSSIBILITIES

As a person ages, the protective cushions of cartilage (discs) between the bones (vertebrae) of the spine tend to lose moisture. The resultant disc shrinkage permits adjacent vertebrae to settle more closely together and increases the risk that they will rub together. This would likely lead one to believe that the lower back pain associated with disc shrinkage is more apt to occur as one gets older. This is true, but only to a point. Pain in the lower back is most common among those in the 30 to 55 age group. After the age of 55 or so, the spine becomes more rigid and less vulnerable to the degeneration and pain associated with disc shrinkage. The development of back pain during these later years is often due to osteoarthritis.

Find out what you can do to help prevent pain on your back. Chiropractic will show you how to restore and maintain your health naturally. For more information, call us at DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. We offer natural and safe care for the entire family and accept only those patients we sincerely feel we can help. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Disc narrowing increases the possibility that a nerve will be trapped between new growths of the facet joints.

Resident wins national award

Jennifer L. Pecoraro has been named a United States National Award winner in foreign language. The U.S. Achievement Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Jennifer, a freshman at Presentation of Mary Academy in Methuen, was nominated for the national award by Lynda Ackarey, a foreign language instructor at the school.

Jennifer's award will appear in the U.S. Achievement Academy's official yearbook, published nationally in November.

The academy selects winners upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, coun-sors or other school sponsors.

Jennifer was picked for her outstanding academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

She is the daughter of Robert and Bonnie Pecoraro of Andover. Her grandparents are Joseph and Laura Pecoraro of Lyndhurst, N.J., and Agnes R. Jack of Andover. Her great-grandmother is Marie Bongiorno of Lyndhurst.

Student wins honors

Robert Antonucci, a postgraduate student at North Shore Regional Vocational School in Beverly, earned first honors for his study of carpentry.

Enjoying the Austin Prep prom are Jim Foscett of Andover and Alessandra Leis of Haverhill. The couple was chosen as the king and queen of the prom. Mr. Foscett, a senior at the Reading preparatory school, is the son of Sheila Marcoux of Holt Road. The Austin prom was held at the Copley Marriott in Boston. Mr. Foscett will graduate with the other Austin seniors this Sunday, June 7, at 2 p.m.

REUNIONS

Merrimack College will hold its annual reunion this weekend.

While the college has the names and addresses of most of its alumni, the addresses of some graduates are unknown. Merrimack alumni who graduated in 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, 1972, 1977, 1982 and 1987 are being particularly honored and invited back to campus this year.

Call Susan Wojtas, Merrimack's director of alumni relations, at 837-5440.

Reunion weekend will begin with a golf tournament on Friday, June 5. The traditional welcome-back party will be held that night on campus.

Saturday's events include a three-hour cruise on the Merrimack River and a dinner dance at the Rolling Green Host Hotel in Andover.

The weekend will end Sunday with Mass and brunch on campus.

Chairman of this year's reunion is James Sellers of Andover, class of '62.

Andover High School's class of 1972 will celebrate its 20th reunion Saturday, Nov. 28. The class also invites the classes of 1970, 1971 and 1973 to join the reunion.

For more information, contact Deborah Look Hyde or Pamela St. Jean Muller, both of Andover.

Andover High's class of 1982 will hold its 10-year reunion Saturday, Nov. 28, at Danversport Yacht Club. Call Glenn Acciardi at 688-8644.

Lawrence High School's class of 1937 is planning its 55th reunion Friday, June 19, at Harris' Pelham Inn.

For further information, contact Mrs. John Sestini of 173 Jackson St., Methuen. Her number is 686-6346.

Parent on Pingree board

Four new trustees were elected to the board of the Pingree School in South Hamilton, an independent, coeducational day school for ninth-through 12th graders.

Shirley A. Margerison of Andover served as president of the Pingree Parents Association for the year 1991-'92 and is active in Pingree's drama program.

Her son, Doug, is a Pingree junior.

Mrs. Margerison serves on the board of managers of the YMCA, is an associate member of the Andover Society and was vice president of the Lawrence General Hospital Aid Association, serving on the board for five years.

Golf tourney postponed

The second annual St. Augustine School golf tournament has been postponed until Monday, June 8.

The tournament was originally scheduled for last Monday, but was rained out.

More than 100 golfers from all over the Merrimack Valley are scheduled to play in the annual event, said Paul A. King, director of public relations.

The tournament, which will tee off at 7:30 a.m., will be held at Andover Country Club.

Highlights include a hole-in-one competition for a new car from Woodworth Motors of Andover.

All proceeds will benefit St. Augustine's programs.

For more information, or to register for the event, call Mr. King at 475-7189.

Parents to plan Bancroft courses

All parents are invited to a meeting to determine what courses will be offered to Bancroft Elementary School's third-, fourth- and fifth-graders in the fall, winter and spring sessions of next year's ACE program.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, June 9, at 8 p.m. in Bancroft's media center.

The Academically Challenging Enrichment program is a series of early morning courses taught by parents and other interested citizens to students who would like to learn about subject areas outside the normal elementary school curriculum.

The program has been in existence for two years through the efforts of 17 parent volunteers and Bonnie Guerin, a third-grade teacher at Bancroft. Courses have covered a wide range of subjects, including physics, math, French, Spanish, physics, art, acting and literature.

What is taught in the ACE program is determined by the interests and talents of the parents who volunteer to teach, said one of them, Jane Gossard.

Four hundred students have participated in the program so far. Foreign language classes have been especially popular, so parents are always needed to teach foreign languages, Mrs. Gossard said. The chess club is another offering that is popular and in need of experienced chess players who would enjoy sharing what they know.

Class size is limited to 12 students unless the teacher requests a smaller class or allows a larger one. Classes meet from 8 to 8:45 a.m.

"The rewards of the program have been great," Mrs. Gossard said. "Parents have the chance to share a special talent or vocational interest with highly motivated children. And children have the chance to learn about subjects they are interested in."

Bancroft parent John Zielin teaches chess to John Ronan, Clark Adriance and Eric Bakkensen.

Women, Child Support & Divorce

If you are separated from your husband you may feel bound to accept your husband's determination of what is a reasonable figure for weekly child support payments, either because you are afraid he may fight you for custody if you do not accept, or because you feel a Court will not award you any more than he is offering anyway. Before you agree to something which is inadequate for your needs and your children's, you should contact an attorney who can advise you relative to your rights, your responsibilities and the standards a Court is likely to apply.

Marionette shows here canceled

Two performances by the Bennington Marionettes scheduled for Sunday, June 7, have been canceled.

West Parish Nursery School, which was sponsoring the shows, said the troupe went out of business last week. The Bennington Marionettes have together since the 1970s.

They were to perform two showings of their latest production, Holiday in Oz, at West Middle School.

Tickets may be returned for a full refund at West Middle School on Shawshen Road Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m. or by contacting West Parish Nursery School at 475-9706.

Puppeteer performs children's classic

Creative Arts in Reading will host the "You and Me Puppets" Saturday, June 6, at 2 p.m. in a presentation of the children's classic Hansel and Gretel.

The program will be held at the Creative Arts Center and features Judith O'Hare, an award-winning puppeteer.

Previously performed at the Boston Museum of Science, Hansel and Gretel will be presented in Guild Hall of the Arts Center, in the First Congregational Church at the corner of Woburn and Sanborn streets in Reading.

An admission fee of $4 will benefit Creative Arts, which this year celebrates its 15th year of arts education.

Proceeds will be used to support music, drama and fine arts programs.

Senior gives piano recital

Senior Jeff Grace will bid a musical farewell to Andover High School in a recital presented by the school's music department and faculty member Robert A. Lague tonight.

Mr. Grace will perform compositions by James Williams, Kenny Kirkland, Ellis Marsalis and John Coltrane Thursday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Collins Center.

He will also play pieces he composed himself. The concert is free.

Mr. Grace played piano in the high school's jazz band for three years and small ensemble for two years. Last year he aided in accompanying the Andover High Chorus.

Mr. Grace is studying jazz piano with Boston-based pianist Bruce Torff and classical piano with Stephany Tiernan, assistant chairwoman of the piano department at Berklee College of Music.

In the fall he will attend the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University in New Jersey, where he will study jazz performance with jazz pianist Kenny Barron.

Accompanying Mr. Grace are Ken Gable, a student at Berklee, on alto and soprano saxophones; Ted Baker, a senior at Marshfield High School, on tenor sax; Gary Wang, Columbia University, on acoustic bass; and special guest, jazz drummer Alan Dawson.

Andover High senior Jeff Grace will perform jazz compositions in his senior recital tonight.

Young pianists in performance

Pianists Alaina Schroeder, Stephanie Barrott and Sefany Andreadis will be presented in recital in Memorial Hall Library's second-floor hall Saturday, June 6, at 3 p.m.

Miss Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schroeder, is a senior at Andover High School, where she is a member of the National Honor Society and ranks second in her graduating class.

Throughout her school years, she has been involved in various school and community service activities, such as serving as accompanist for the Carol Choir at South Church and captain of the color guard in the Andover High Band. She will enter Brown University in the fall.

Miss Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, has been named a National Merit Scholar from North Andover High School where she ranks first in her class. In addition to other activities, she writes for The Red Bourbon, a school literary magazine.

This fall she will continue her studies at Princeton University.

Miss Andreadis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Andreadis, is a junior at Andover High, where she is a member of the National Honor Society. She will be captain of the color guard in the Andover High Band next fall. Teaching Sunday school and participating in high school musical productions are among her other activities.

All three pianists have been active in area-wide and national music festivals and adjudications, receiving high commendations and superior ratings.

Miss Andreadis studied privately for eight years; Miss Schroeder and Miss Barrett have studied privately for 11 years. Each will be given an hour-long performance exam to qualify for the high school diploma in piano. The exams will be heard and adjudicated by pianist and teacher Catherine Morena Baird. The diplomas will be awarded by the American College of Musicians.

Saturday's program will include works by Bach, Mozart, Chopin and Gershwin and an improvisation on an original theme.

Resident in 'Brigadoon' production

Betsy Taylor of Andover played a leading role in a recent production of Brigadoon.

Ms. Taylor was Jeannie MacLaren in the Off Broadway Player's production of the musical, presented at the University of Massachusetts at Lowell.

Artists guild reviews scholars

At a recent meeting of the scholarship committee, members of the Andovers Artists Guild reviewed the portfolios and essays of 17 students from several area high schools to select scholarship winners. Each year, the guild provides funds to assist outstanding students in the visual arts field in furthering their art education after high school. This year, seven awards will be presented at graduation, totaling $1,000.

Approximately 100 guests attended the Greater Lawrence chapter of Hadassah's Donor '92 event at the Addison Gallery of Art last Sunday.

The evening of fine arts included guided tours of the gallery's current exhibits, "Selections from the Permanent Collection" and "Mapping the European Discovery of the World." Entertainment was provided by a chamber music class from Phillips Academy, led by faculty members Nancy Miller, violin, and Peter Warsaw, piano.

The student musicians were violinists Noy Thrupkaew and Cynthia Miller, pianist Beverly Min, clarinetist Robert Kim, cellist Lisa Mills and flutist Alana Petraske.

Hadassah will use the funds raised for the construction of a new health-care organization, the Children's Pavillion, in Ein Karem, Jerusalem.

Andover Choral gets romantic

The Andover Choral Society will perform a "Gala of English Romantic Music" on Sunday, June 7, at 3 p.m. at Memorial Music Hall on Route 28 in Methuen.

The concert is under the direction of Allen Combs and includes works by Vaughan Williams, Gustav Holst, Alfred Gaul and Sullivan (without and with Gilbert).

Soloists will be soprano Christy Welty and mezzo-soprano Theresa Morgan.

Tickets at $8 ($4 for children under 12) will be available at the door.

The Andover Historical Society will present the morning coffee program, "Andover's First Citizens," Tuesday, June 9, at 9:30 a.m. in the Amos Blanchard House and Barn Museum at 97 Main St.

The morning coffee committee has invited Jim Bradley, director of the Robert S. Peabody Museum of Archaeology, to be the guest speaker.

According to Mr. Bradley, Andover's first occupants were Native Americans, and they arrived more than 12,000 years ago.

Bernice Haggerty, morning coffee committee chairwoman, and her committee - Jan Henderson, Betty Gorrie, Ruth Sharpe, Mildred West, Ruth Sherwood and Doris Newton - are inviting the public. Ms. Henderson will share her arrowhead collection.

This is a special opportunity for interested individuals to bring their prized objects to share. Mr. Bradley will do some artifact identification as well as discuss archaeology in the Andover area and give a history of the Peabody Museum.

Homemade refreshments will be served and there is no charge.

Harold Parker Forest opens to campers July 1

Massachusetts state forests and parks will be welcoming visitors soon in many cases earlier than previous years. The Department of Environmental Management released the opening dates for nearly 100 state forests, parks, reservations, and recreation areas, including Harold Parker State Forest on the Andover line, which is slated to open to campers Wednesday, July 1.

Supplemental budget funds approved by the legislature and Gov. Weld in April are enabling the parks to open on time this year, after several years of delayed openings. The supplemental funds cover the cost of seasonal staff necessary to operate the parks.

DEM Commissioner Peter Webber indicated that state park fees will remain the same this year ($5 per vehicle for day use areas, $35 for a season pass) with one notable exception: a $2 per night reduction in camping fees at certain off-peak times.

"We've introduced this fee reduction as an incentive to get campers into the parks mid-week when the campgrounds are not heavily utilized," Mr. Webber said.

Camping fees range between $8 and $12 per night, plus utilities. The $2 discount will be in effect Sunday through Thursday nights from each campground's opening day until June 18, and again from Aug. 13 until the campgrounds close in the fall.

Mr. Webber noted that visitors will find new bathroom facilities in some parks, and wheelchair-access improvements continue to be made throughout the park system. He reminded day visitors that DEM's carry-in/carry-out trash policy, introduced last year, is again in effect. Visitors will be asked to take home any trash they produce during their visit.

"This results in a significant savings to taxpayers in reduced waste collection and disposal costs at state parks," Mr. Webber said. Carry in/carry out does not pertain to state campgrounds or ocean beaches.

DCS classes register for summer fun

The Department of Community Services' summer program registration is continuing at town offices on Bartlet Street. The DCS booklet mailed to Andover homes in early May lists recreational and enrichment courses for youngsters, teens and adults.

The most popular classes on the opening day of registration were soccer, swimming, tennis, golf, children's theater, karate and SAT math and verbal preparation.

Anyone who did not receive a booklet may pick one up at the DCS office Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. After regular office hours, registrations may be dropped in the white mail box in front of the building.

Programs begin the week of Monday, July 6, unless otherwise specified. Some classes still accepting registrations include:

Keyboarding: Develop touch control of the keyboard and proper keyboarding techniques to enhance computer skills using IBM computers. The class will run Monday through Friday, July 6-17, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Andover High School. The fee is $56.

English as a second Language: A beginning course for students with some knowledge of English. Concentration will be on grammar, speaking and listening skills. The six-week class will be held Tuesdays from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at Andover High. The fee is $18.

Partners in Poetry: For the poet and non-poet alike. The course will emphasize the inspiration of a poet, poetry as well as the actual writing of verse. This class will be held at Andover High from 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. six weeks. The fee is $18.

Calligraphy: More cursive and modern cards by learning the technique to form Old English and italic alphabet. Class will be held at Andover High from 7 to 9 p.m. for six weeks. The fee is $41, $32 for senior citizens.

Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR): A Red Cross certificate will be issued upon successful completion of the course. Students pay for books and supplies (about $15) in class. The class will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning July 14, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for four weeks. Fee is $24.

Photography: Basics for the beginner. Learn to use all the controls on your camera. Discuss film, equipment, flash camera care with emphasis on composition. Bring camera and instruction manual to class on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at Andover High for six weeks. Fee is $44.

Resident appears in Simon farce

It's the perfect evening for a dinner party until the help doesn't show up, the host is shot in the head and the police arrive.

That's the plot of Rumors, a farce by Neil Simon, which ends its run Sunday, June 7, at Giordano's Starlite Dinner Theater on Route 97 in Georgetown.

The cast includes Leslie Brebner of Andover.

Ms. Brebner has also appeared at Giordano's in Mixed Doubles.

Giordano's next production will be The Sound of Music, which runs June 11-28 and July 9-19. The beloved musical won six Tony Awards and five Academy Awards.

Performances are Thursday through Saturday evenings and Sunday matinees. Reservations are required. Call (800) 287-PLAY.

Memorial Day in Andover features the ceremonies held at town offices, including the fly-over by the Air National Guard from Westover. A Taste of Andover, an evening of recognition for local businesses, was taped by Dan Tremblay May 13.

Christopher Columbus made a well-publicized voyage across the Atlantic Ocean 500 years ago and opened up a whole new world to Europeans. The natives also had a new world opened to them. At Phillips Academy, the R.S. Peabody Museum of Archeology and Addison Gallery decided to put together an exhibit showing this event from both perspectives. Maps and Dreams, a video produced by Andover resident Diane Pitochelli with help from Andover High School juniors Brandon Auchterlonie, Ed Moore and Chad Murphy, explores these exhibits. The video was produced with a grant from the Andover Arts Lottery Council.

WEDDINGS

Couple exchanges vows

Jill Marie Golden of Plymouth, N.H., and Malcolm Frederick Estell Jr. of Meredith, N.H., were married in the First Congregational Church in Campton, N.H. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur Ure.

The bride's full-length gown of traditional styling was fashioned in satin with a sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, basque waistline and leg-of-mutton sleeves embellished with seed pearls, lace and opalescent sequins.

Jacklyn Golden, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lynne Estell of Meredith, the groom's sister; Cheryl Carlson of Pelham, N.H.; and Marie O'Leary of Thorton, N.H. Reagan Menke Min of North Dakota, the bride's niece, was junior bridesmaid.

The best man was Thomas Gakis of Pelham, N.H. Charles Garcia of Pittsfield, Shawn Lynch of Andover, John F. Golden Jr. of Plymouth and Lyle Estell of Pelham were ushers.

Jessica Nassar of North Andover, the groom's cousin, was flower girl, and Jason Steele of Campton, N.H., the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

The bride is the daughter of Carolyn Golden of Plymouth and the late John F. Golden Sr. She graduated from Plymouth Area High School and Hesser College in Manchester, N.H. She is employed as a medical assistant by Dr. Jane L. Forrest.

Mr. Estell is the son of Malcolm F. and D. Lois (Bennett) Estell Sr. of Meredith. He is the grandson of Esther M. Estell of Andover and James B. Bennett Jr. of Concord, N.H., and the late Thelma Bennett. A graduate of Pelham High School and the University of New Hampshire, he is a dispatcher for S & J Transportation Services.

Following a reception at Pheasant Ridge Country Club in Gifford, N.H., the couple left for a honeymoon in Orlando, Fla.

The couple lives in Somersworth, N.H.

Newlyweds make new home in Andover

DCS registers summer courses

Ballroom dancing: Learn the basics of the waltz, foxtrot and polka. Leading and following techniques will be stressed. Level I meets from 6:30 to 8 p.m., while Level II meets from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at Andover High on Thursdays. The fee is $24 per person.

Bodywise: Easy exercises designed to reduce body stress, promote relaxation and improve daily functioning. Movements from yoga, dance, tai chi and Feldenkrais are used to give a gentle workout. Open to all levels. Class meets on Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. for six weeks at Andover High.

Calm Mind/Calm Body: A meditation class to calm the mind and relax the body. The use of the breath while doing gentle non-weight-bearing exercises helps reduce stress and excessive muscular tension and improve everyday functioning. Class meets at Andover High for six weeks on Thursdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Splatter shirts: Make unique T-shirts using fabric paints and a special machine that "spins" the design, creating beautiful patterns. Bring three washed shirts, plus $1 per shirt for supplies.

This class makes a great parent/child activity. The one-day workshop will be held Monday, July 13, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at Andover High. The fee is $12.

Other classes with openings for registration include Stepping Up, karate for adults, body toning, Aero-dance, Aeromoves, Easy Shape Up, volleyball (coed and men's advanced), tennis and family archery.

Organ builder Bradley Rule puts the finishing touches on West Parish Church's new organ.

Church dedicates new organ

West Parish Church, 129 Reservation Road, will dedicate its new organ with a recital Sunday, June 14, at 7 p.m.

Joyce Painter Rice, the church's music director, will perform on the newly installed new organ.

The concert will be followed by a reception in Fellowship Hall.

"To an organist, a good organ seems to have a life, and ability to make music on its own," Ms. Rice said when the organ was installed in March.

Churches get together

West Parish and Ballardvale United churches will share worship the first Sundays of July and August.

Ballardvale will be the host Sunday, July 5; and West Parish will return the favor Sunday, Aug. 2.

Flowers for June services at West Parish are needed. Call 475-4983.

Jewish fellowship sets service

Havurat Shalom will host a shavuot service Sunday, June 7, from 10 a.m. to noon. The service will be conducted by Rabbi Michael Luckens and Cantor Rosalie Jerut. Contact Georgia London at 470-3247 for location and directions.

Havurat Shalom is a Reconstructionist Jewish Fellowship that practices Jewish tradition in a contemporary manner.

To learn more about the group, call Evy McDade, membership chairwoman, at 470-1095.

School has open house

Havurat Shalom invites parents interested in a Jewish education for their children to a religious school open house and registration Thursday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. The staff will discuss the progress of the past year and plans for the 1992-'93 school year. Religious school classes are held in Andover once a week after school.

Christian Scientist leader lectures here

Has healing through prayer, as recorded in countless stories in the Bible, been superseded by new and advanced medical discoveries? Is prayer relevant in modern life?

A lecture sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Andover, will address these and other questions Sunday, June 7, at Old Town Hall on Main Street at 2 p.m.

"It will show how healing through prayer is as available today as it was in Jesus' time, and how it is the safe and sure solution to today's health-care issue," said the lecturer, Jill Gooding, president of the world wide Christian Science church. "It will include examples of spiritual healing and how an understanding of God brings these healings about."

The lecture will show fresh ways to make our prayers more effective, whatever our religious background."

Mrs. Gooding, who is British, entered the public practice of spiritual healing as a young woman and is an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

A member of the board of trusteeship of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, she recently served as a member of the Christian Science board of directors, the first woman from Europe elected to this office. In this capacity she made pioneering trips to Eastern Europe, both before and during the fall of the Berlin wall and participated in the successful efforts to obtain recognition of Christian Science in East Germany.

Mrs. Gooding and her husband have a son at college in the United States and a daughter at university in Great Britain.

Franciscans host healing liturgy

The Rev. Robert DeGrandis, S.S.J., will be at the Franciscan Center, 475 River Road, Wednesday, June 10, for a liturgy and healing service at 7:30 p.m.

What is asked of the church

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover will address the question "What do we ask of the Church?" on Sunday, June 7.

The Rev. David B. Park, interim minister, will preach. He observes that the religious community is not the same as the Y, Rotary, NOW or country club.

His sermon will cover questions he's heard, such as "What is distinctive about the religious community? What claims do we make on it? What claims does it make on us?"

A congregational discussion will follow the sermon.

Services begin at 10:30 a.m.

The church is near downtown. The located at 6 Locke St. public is welcome.

Born in Russia, she came to Boston as a young woman and worked at Jordan Marsh. In 1926, she married and moved to Lawrence where she had lived ever since.

Mrs. Wigrizer was a life member of Lawrence chapter of Hadassah, the Sisterhood of Congregation Anshai Shulim of Lawrence, the Sisterhood of Tifereth Israel of Lawrence and the Lawrence Jewish Community Center.

She was the widow of Morris Wigrizer, and members of her family include her son and daughter-in-law, Leon and Deborah Wigrizer of Philadelphia, Pa.; daughters, Shirley Cohen of Nashua, N.H., and Harriet Slovin of Andover; sister, Minnie Mirotznik of Phoenix, Ariz.; eight grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Monday at Temple Emanuel. Burial will be in Temple Emanuel Cemetery in Lawrence.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Funeral arrangements were by Goldman Fisher Funeral Chapel in Malden.

Judith A. Cronan, 47 Active volunteer

Judith A. (Mohla) Cronan, 47, of 20 Korinthian Way, died Monday, June 1, at her home, of cancer.

Born in Winchester, she lived most of her life in the Boston area. She attended Wakefield public schools and graduated from Wakefield High School.

Mrs. Cronan worked at Prospect Tool and Dye Co. in Woburn until she married in 1972.

She then moved to Andover, where she became active as a volunteer in Andover's school system, Christ Church, the Girl Scouts and the Family Cooperative Preschool of North Andover.

Mrs. Cronan worked for Birch Drug in North Andover for three years.

She loved the outdoors and was an avid skier who enjoyed both winter and summer sports.

Family members include her husband, William Cronan of Andover; sons, James and Robert Cronan of Andover; daughter, Gail Cronan of Andover; parents, Harry and Dorothy (Greene) Mohla of Wakefield; brothers, Harry Mohla of Groton, Richard Mohla of North Conway, N.H., and Thomas Mohla of Wakefield; sister, Lori McDermont of Wakefield; and several aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

Services were held Wednesday, June 3, at 7:30 p.m. at Christ Church. Burial will be private.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Funeral arrangements were by Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home, 17 Third St., North Andover.

Saul Shtrumpfman, 82 Former construction worker

Saul Shtrumpfman, 82, of 388 Lowell St. died Wednesday, May 27, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Born in Lawrence, he was educated in Andover and graduated from Essex Agricultural School in 1931.

Mr. Shtrumpfman served in the Army during World War II. He worked for Central Construction Co. in Lawrence and Henley-Lundgren Co. in Shrewsbury.

Mr. Shtrumpfman was a member of Andover Grange and International Operating Engineers Local 98.

He was the widower of Blanche (Gilman) Shtrumpfman, and family members include his aunt, Freda Moulton of Plaistow, N.H.; uncle, Solomon Strumpfman of Swampscott; three grandsons; one granddaughter; and two great-grandsons.

Memorial contributions may be made to Boston Children's Hospital, Longwood Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02115.

Funeral arrangements were by Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home of North Andover.

Angelo A. DeRienzo, 89 Mechanic, pianist

Angelo A. DeRienzo, 89, of Lawrence died Tuesday, June 2, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Born in Lawrence, Mr. DeRienzo was a self-employed mechanic, having owned and operated Angelo's Garage, retiring 15 years ago.

Mr. DeRienzo attended Holy Rosary Church.

His family said he was an accomplished concert pianist and was a member of Lawrence Musicians Union 372 AF&AM.

Family members include his wife, Rena (Corderre) DeRienzo; son and daughter-in-law, Alphonse and Edna DeRienzo of Derry, N.H.; sisters, Mary Cefalu of Lawrence and Louise Petrella of Andover; grandchildren, William DeRienzo of Apache Junction, Ariz., Lisa Harrison of Mesa, Ariz., and Michael DeRienzo of Derry; six great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass will be celebrated Thursday, June 4, at 9:30 a.m. at Holy Rosary Church in Lawrence. Cremation will be in Linwood Crematory in Haverhill.

There are no calling hours.

Funeral arrangements are by Pitocchelli-Langone Funeral Home in Lawrence.

Harold Nagin, 78 Manufacturing executive

Harold Nagin, 78, of 12 Dean Circle died Monday, June 1, at Lawrence General Hospital.

Mr. Nagin was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and worked in the steel industry as the president of a manufacturing company. Since his retirement, he had been a math tutor for area high school students.

Mr. Nagin was a graduate of Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Members of his family include his wife, Ruth P. (Pearlman) Nagin; sons, Richard Nagin of Cleveland, Ohio, Carl Nagin of Watertown and Paul Nagin of New York City, N.Y.; brother, Leon Nagin of Pittsburgh; sisters, June Leeds and Norma Yahn of New York; five grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Nagin's remains were donated to the Boston University Medical School. A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Irene Taylor Daughter in Andover

Irene Taylor of Rochester, N.Y., died Wednesday, May 27, in Rochester.

Members of her family include her daughters, Carole Ruben of Andover and Lois Schiller of Rochester; son, Howard Taylor of Rochester; and a granddaughter, Jessica Ruben, and grandson, Jon Ruben, both of Andover.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 853 Main St., Tewksbury, Mass. 01876.

Friends reach out to bereaved Andover family

Friends and neighbors of the O'Leary family have created a memorial fund for Thomas P. O'Leary, who died in a car accident two weeks ago, to help provide for his 6-year-old son.

Mr. O'Leary died Wednesday, May 20, when his car was struck by a truck on Route 93 in Londonderry, N.H.

The fund "seemed a really good vehicle for people to let Debbie and Ryan (Mr. O'Leary's wife and son) know that they cared," said one friend, who asked to remain anonymous. She called it "a tribute to Tom and something Ryan can have when he's 18 to see that people cared about him — and about his father."

Mr. O'Leary worked for the U.S. Air Force Defense Department. He was pursuing a degree at New Hampshire College at the time of his death. Mrs. O'Leary works at New England Life where she met her husband.

"This was a very special individual, very outgoing, very social," said the friend. "He touched a lot of people's lives."

Donations may be sent to the Thomas O'Leary Memorial Fund, care of Andover Bank, 61 Main St., Andover, Mass. 01810. Checks should be made payable to the fund.

haps even a monument.

In contrast, the lives of other individuals are characterized not by one momentous achievement. Instead, their everyday lives are marked by loving words and selfless deeds that are woven into the very being of each person fortunate enough to know them.

My mother, Evelyn Bell, is such a person. Mother's Day is a most fitting occasion to express appreciation for love and support.

The mother of eight children and grandmother of 17 soon to be 18 - my mother has devoted her life to her family. Oh, yes, she has "worked outside the home," serving as a secretary for the clergy at Lawrence General Hospital, but she has defined herself by tirelessly nurturing her children, both physically and spiritually. There was always an abundant and well-balanced meal on the table; but more importantly, she has tried to instill in her children the irreproachable values that guide her daily life.

My mother is adored by her grandchildren, in large measure because she makes each child feel special - a significant accomplishment when you have 17 grandchildren who reside within a 10-mile radius.

"Grammy Bell" cherishes the individuality and idiosyncrasies of each grandchild and rejoices in each of their accomplishments, whether it be baby's first step or straight A's on a report card.

Cheerfulness, thoughtfulness and tolerance are among my mother's outstanding qualities. Her positive outlook made her a cancer survivor long before psychoimmunology gained credibility. Her thoughtfulness displays itself in offers of a helping hand or acts of assistance. She is surprisingly tolerant of different ideas and lifestyles given her own deep-seated religious convictions and loyalty to her church.

She lives life with

a zest that is inspiring and contagious. An avid sports fan, she makes wagers with her grandchildren and sons-in-law and multiplies the fun for everyone. She preserves family traditions and provides us all with a sense of constancy and rootedness in a fast-paced and mobile society.

For example, she never fails to prepare corned beef, cabbage and Irish soda bread on St. Patrick's Day.

Her zest for living is satisfied in simple ways. She does not yearn to travel far and wide but instead longs for a brief stay at Hampton Beach. She prefers good home cooking to fancy restaurants. But, more than anything else, she derives satisfaction from her family and frequently remarks upon how lucky she is to have so many children and grandchildren who are close by.

count my blessings, I place my mother at the top of the list.

Here's how/when the water system began land of Phillips Academy.

The system was expanded to provide water for domestic consumption and fire protection. Initially, the transmission system consisted of a suction main and pumping station at Haggetts Pond. The distribution system consisted of 20 miles of pipe varying from 4- to 14-inches in diameter, 152 fire hydrants, and 500 service connections. An open storage reservoir was constructed off of Bancroft Road with a capacity of 1.3 million gallons and provided fire protection to the service area.

Post-World War II

In 1941, a committee was appointed to develop a new master plan for water and sewage system improvements. The plan was delayed until 1944 when long range improvements were developed. The improvements consisted of a new transmission main from Haggetts Pond to the Bancroft Reservoir and new mains in the western part of the town. The master plan was revised in the mid-1950s to accommodate existing needs due to rapid population growth as well as future expansions.

In spite of rigid water use restrictions during the drought year of 1957, the water demand exceeded the safe yield of Haggetts Pond, which was drawn down excessively. An emergency ground water supply well was put into operation. Based on ground water exploratory work conducted in 1957, three new wells were installed. Additional ground water studies indicated that adequate ground water supplies were not available to meet Andover's future needs.

Also, the existing wells developed high iron and manganese levels that would require treatment for continued use. Accordingly, a long-range plan for additional surface water supply was recommended.

This plan resulted in the construction in 1967 of a small diversion dam and pumping station with the capacity of 10 million gallons per day, located at the mouth of Fish Brook at its junction with the Merrimack River. Also constructed was 3 and 1/4 miles of transmission main from the pumping station to Haggetts Pond. This project enabled about 90 percent of the total flow from Fish Brook to be diverted into Haggetts Pond, thereby increasing the safe yield of the pond. It was also recommended that the pumping station have a connection to the Merrimack River to augment the pond with river water in the future. This would require the construction of a water filtration plant.

During the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s, several storage and water main improvements were completed. In the 1950s a one-million gallon storage tank for the western section of town (Wood Hill) was completed. An 800,000-gallon storage tank for the eastern section of town (Prospect or Holt Hill) was also installed. In the 1960s a six-million gallon underground reservoir was constructed replacing the original Bancroft Reservoir. In the 1970s a three-million gallon reservoir was constructed, serving the eastern part of the town. The last two closed reservoirs eliminated the original open reservoirs that were potential sources of pollution. As a result of the 1956 and 1972 master plans for water distribution system improvements, 150,000 feet of new water mains have been installed.

The construction of Andover's water filtration plant was completed in 1974 and is situated on the south side of Haggetts Pond. The plant treats water from the pond that is augmented by Fish Brook and the Merrimack River.

1980s to Present

In 1986 a three-million gallon reservoir located on Wood Hill was constructed. Improvements to the water distribution system were ongoing. The largest improvement during the 1980s was the expansion and upgrade of the water filtration plant from 12- to 24-million gallons per day capacity. The expansion was needed to satisfy projected water demands and the upgrade was needed to satisfy aesthetic water quality issues and new forthcoming health water quality issues. This work would assure adequate treatment and capacity for the 21st century. The expansion and upgrade were completed in 1990.

Presently, the water distribution master plan has been updated that recommended the replacement of the Bancroft Booster Pumping Station and additional new water mains to improve the fire protection in the southern and eastern part of town. This plan also includes the beginning of the replacement of water mains that are more than 100 years old.

lived for many years in the western suburbs of Boston and seldom returned to Andover. Meanwhile, 253 Andover St. had a number of new owners and the recent historical award suggests they have been people who kept architectural faith with the past while building for the future.

Love remains. Four years ago, the happy coincidence of marrying a woman from Andover, Lynda McNeil, brought me back here to live near where I was cherished as a child. Here is my past and my future. Here also is my hope that children born to Sarah, Joy, Adam, Laura and Holly will learn the timeless values from us that bloomed like the roses on a trellis in my grandmother's flower garden when Nana and Grampy lived and loved at 253 Andover St.

Margaret Litvin excels at Phillips Academy

Margaret Litvin is one of three Massachusetts high school students, and 141 students nationwide, to be named a Presidential Scholar this year. She and the other designees will be honored during a trip to Washington, D.C., next week, June 13-18, with a White House ceremony. What Ms. Litvin can't wait to see is what kind of company she's in.

"It's going to be hilarious. I'm looking forward to seeing what sorts of people win this," Ms. Litvin said Monday, adding that she guessed that she's normal "most of the time." A lot of the winners are scholars of the arts, she said.

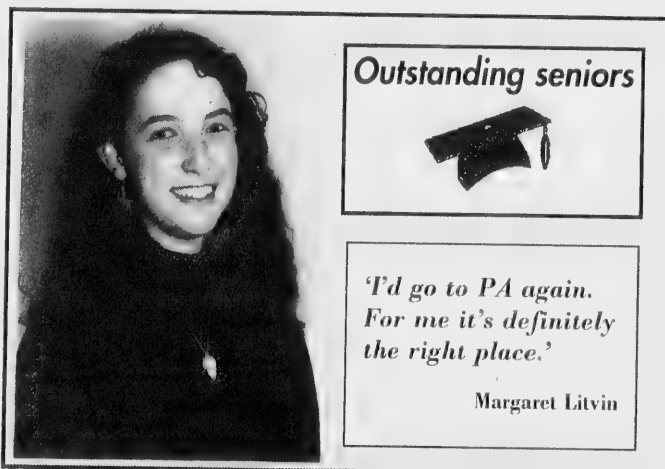

Ms. Litvin, 17, a graduating senior at Phillips Academy, is the daughter of Yuri and Maria Litvin, of Phillips Academy.

She is five-foot, two-inches tall, with lively hazel eyes and curly brown hair that hangs past her shoulders, a rosy complexion and a quick smile. One gets the feeling she is comfortable with herself, confident without being cocky, and able to take things as they come.

She thought of applying to several different colleges, and did to many, but pretty much settled on Yale a while back. A counselor told her early on, why don't you just apply to Yale and get it over with, and she did.

Questioned whether George Bush's having gone to PA and Yale might have had an effect on her being named a Presidential Scholar, Ms. Litvin laughed and said she hoped not.

"Well, it's true that I'm also going to Yale in the fall," Ms. Litvin said.

And she added that the coincidences go further.

One of the factors in her selection was an essay students had to write, and she wrote hers on Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war during World War II. Col. Stimson also went to PA and Yale, he spoke at George Bush's commencement from PA, and a lot of his attitudes and expressed positions were reflected in President Bush's Persian Gulf policies, according to Ms. Litvin.

The coincidences go on, she said, but so far the only one she shares with the two men is their schooling.

"I hope the Andover connection doesn't have anything to do with being chosen, but it's sort of funny," she said.

One of her PA teachers, Henry L. Herbst, a French teacher, will travel with Ms. Litvin to Washington next week and will be honored with a certificate of excellence for being the teacher Ms. Litvin named as having the most influence on her.

Ms. Litvin explained that she went from level-two to level-four French when she was in the 10th grade, skipping level three, and was at first overwhelmed. Mr. Herbst was supportive and encouraged her to stick it out. She did and last year spent a year abroad studying in France.

Ms. Litvin is no stranger to travel or languages. She was born in Moscow. When she was 5 years old a "close knit Jewish community" in Montgomery, Ala., sponsored her family's move to Montgomery. They later moved to Birmingham, then the Boston area and finally to Andover four years ago. Ms. Litvin said her grandfather still sends the people in Montgomery newspaper clippings of her every achievement.

This summer, thanks to another award, Ms. Litvin will spend six weeks by herself in Italy, to complement her Italian studies. She had planned to go to Italy anyway, but just didn't know how she was going, or how to pay for it.

"So now I know," she said.

She still speaks Russian, having learned it growing up and because her parents continued speaking Russian around the house after moving to the United States so her younger brother, Aaron, 10, would learn it as well.

She was involved in a lot of extracurricular activities, but has cut out most of them.

"I play classical guitar," she said. And she enjoys search and rescue, a sport at PA that involves orienteering, backpacking, camping, ropes courses and climbing. She climbed the outside of the bell tower at PA using ropes, and rappelled off as one of the activities.

"We also did some rock climbing down in Den Rock Park in North Andover," she said.

She liked attending PA, but said it is not for everybody.

"I'd go to PA again. For me it's definitely the right place," Ms. Litvin said.

She was a day student living at home. If she had been a boarding student, it may have been a different story, she said. One problem is that PA is a lot like college for the boarding students, and some of them are just 14 years old. For a lot of people it isn't the right place and they aren't happy at the school, Ms. Litvin said.

"But for me it was and I am," she said.

The six weeks in Italy this year will be the first time Ms. Litvin has been away from her mother for more than a month. When she came to PA her mother was hired as a mathematics teacher at the school and her family lived here. When she went to school in France last year her mother went along as a math teacher for the American students. It's a big joke in her family right now that every time she goes away, Mom goes along, Ms. Litvin said. But she won't be followed to Yale. Her mother will stay at PA at least until Aaron is out of high school.

Her dad could always move his Wilmington-based computer software consulting and engineering firm to Connecticut to keep an eye on his daughter. But in any case, she won't be completely alone.

"My best friend is at Yale right now. And another best friend is going to be at Columbia," Ms. Litvin said.

YMCA is working to make kids physically fit

A recent national study found that nine out of 10 parents think their children are physically fit. But according to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, two out of three kids fail to meet their minimum standards for fitness.

And more than one-fourth of kids aged 6-11 are considered obese.

YMCA fitness and sports programs designed to educate kids while exercising them can begin to tackle this problem. One such program is the new Junior Fitness course offered at the Andover/North Andover YMCA. Boys and girls ages 8-13 can take part in this challenging new program incorporating STEP aerobics, ropics (jump rope), resistance training and traditional exercises for 30 minutes of fitness made fun. The group will meet twice a week (Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 10:30 a.m.) for eight weeks beginning Tuesday, June 30. Sign-ups begin Sunday, June 7, at 6 p.m. for full-privilege Y members, June 13 for basic members and June 17 for non-members. Course fee is $22 for full members, $27 for basic members and $37 for non-members. Summer memberships are available for $25.

YMCA summer memberships can provide people of all ages and families large and small with 3 1/2 months of fun and fitness. Summer memberships are valid June 1-Sept. 15. Youth memberships (6 months-grade 8) are $25, high school and college age $32. Adult memberships are $96. Families are $163 with a special plan for single parent families for $93.

All memberships include use of the pool, gym, Universal gym, lockers and showers at no daily charge and low members fees for classes and other programs. Nautilus membership can be purchased for an additional $50.

Registration for all summer courses begins Sunday, June 7, for full privilege members at 6 p.m. Registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis with numbers being given out at 5:45 p.m.

Members can register for their family and up to two other families if they are not able to attend. Basic member registration will begin on Wednesday, June 17, at 7 p.m.

Brochures listing the programs and services are available at the Y at 165 Haverhill St.

The Diamonds perform marriage counseling pal Church it is required that there be some sort of preparation or counseling," said Rev. Diamond.

"It made perfect sense to me, to us, that there be some preparation for people entering into marriage," he said.

Two-career family

Ms. Diamond is a lawyer for the Massachusetts Senate's House Ways and Means Committee. She and her husband have two sons, Chris, 12, and Jeff, 9. Because of family and career responsibilities of her own, Ms. Diamond and her husband had to design a flexible pre-marriage counseling schedule. They meet with couples two on two one night each week and with groups of engaged couples one Sunday every few months.

Ms. Diamond said this is her contribution to the Christ Church community, one that she can balance with her career and family.

Both believe their experiences with balancing marriage, career and family give them a unique perspective when offering pre-marriage counseling.

When a couple decides they want to be married at Christ Church they sign up for a Sunday group session. Both the man and the woman are asked to fill out two questionnaires of multiple choice questions that will help Rev. and Ms. Diamond understand their personality characteristics and their communication styles.

How it works

The first meeting the Diamonds have with engaged couples is a group session comprised of anywhere from four to seven couples. Besides drawing from their own experience as husband and wife, the Diamonds also use responses from two questionnaires. The questionnaires are the Meyers-Briggs assessment indicator and "Prepare," a survey created by two Lutheran ministers who were part of the University of Minnesota psychology staff. Rev. Diamond became familiar with the Prepare inventory while he was the school's chaplain.

Both Rev. and Ms. Diamond don't like to use the word "test" when they talk about the two questionnaires.

"The word 'test' isn't really the best way to describe them," said Rev. Diamond.

"There really is no right or wrong answer. When we ask couples to fill out the questionnaires we ask them to do it in different rooms so they don't compare responses and won't be concerned with scores," added Ms. Diamond.

The main objective of the Meyers-Briggs survey is to identify personality characteristics. Once these have been identified, couples can reduce the conflict that can result when people with different characteristics try to communicate.

For example, said Rev. Diamond, some people process information in an objective, analytical style. They lead with their thoughts, he said.

The Rev. James Diamond and Barbara Diamond

Others process information with their feelings. If a feeling person and a thinking person exchange ideas without recognizing each other's personality characteristics, a feeling person may be wounded by what they consider an overly cold and analytical attitude by the thinking person. A thinking person may see the feeling person as a "wishy washy," he said.

"By recognizing that someone is different you can learn to communicate without pushing your own personality preferences on them," Rev. Diamond said.

Ms. Diamond said learning about a future spouse's communication style gives couples a new way of approaching communication. She said couples find it reassuring when they recognize each other's differences and are able to talk about them without labeling the differences as right or wrong.

At first Rev. Diamond said he wasn't too enthusiastic about the Prepare inventory because it was a computer analyzed multiple choice test. But after learning more about it, he said he found that it helped identify the personality traits and communication patterns of engaged couples and reduced the number of follow-up visits ministers have with engaged couples.

Since 1971, when they first began pre-marriage counseling, the Diamonds have counseled hundreds of couples.

"Since 1981 (when he first joined the Christ Church parish), we've filled four filing drawers worth of couples," he said, which is more than 250 couples.

When a couple signs up for pre-marriage counseling at the Christ Church office on Central Street, they are asked to take both the Prepare and Meyers-Briggs inventories. They will then join a group of other engaged couples for a three-hour, Sunday group session at the church.

During the group session, the Diamonds discuss everything from how

"Since 1981 (when he first joined the Christ Church parish), we've filled four filing draws worth of couples, he said, which is more than 250 couples."

The Rev. James Diamond

the couples first met to what type of music they'd like to have played at their ceremony.

"There are always some people who are nervous or who don't want to be there. We go around the room and ask couples how they met and their first impressions of each other. It's a real ice breaker," said Ms. Diamond.

"Those who were apprehensive at first begin to relax. They are genuinely surprised when it turns out to be fun," she said.

Marriage expectations

Another area the Diamonds talk about with couples is expectations of marriage and of their spouse. One of the most common, unrealistic expectations couples have, especially younger couples, is that "marriage will change everything, and everything will be wonderful once they're married. And that time will make everything that was once difficult, easy," he said.

The Diamonds said they have seen less of that in the last decade than during the '70s when they first began pre-marriage counseling at the University of Minnesota.

"People are not getting married as young as they did when Barbara and I first began doing this. Couples today bring more life experiences to their marriage," he said, naming more dating and live-in relationships before becoming engaged.

Ms. Diamond said she doesn't believe there are many more people who live together today than did 10 or 15 years ago.

"I just think they are more honest about it when asked," she said.

Another area the Diamonds discuss with the couples is conflict resolution and they counsel people not to be afraid of arguing. They also talk about rules for arguing.

Some of those rules include using no abusive language, keeping the dialog open until both feel the other has listened to his/her opinions, and understanding and respecting each other's point of view.

"Two independent, thinking adults are bound to have differences of opinions on many things. It is unreasonable to think that they will always see eye to eye on everything," said Rev. Diamond.

The Diamonds also request that the couples design a budget. Money, they agree, is one of the most common topics married couples fight about. Ms. Diamond's basic advice for couples in this department is to share responsibility in designing and sticking to a budget. She said money sometimes becomes a symbol of other problems, such as power struggles in the relationship.

There have only been a few occasions in the hundreds of pre-marriage counseling sessions that Rev. Diamond has advised couples not to marry. One instance he can remember was about 20 years ago. During the private counseling session, Rev. Diamond said he looked across the table and asked the groom-to-be, "You really don't want to get married, do you?" The young man responded, "No."

Another time the Diamonds were discussing marriage and wedding plans with a couple and realized the process was overwhelming the man and woman.

"At that time we asked them what would happen if you waited six months," he said.

Making it work

One bit of advice the Diamonds give to couples is to "build time into the day to talk to each other, face to face, without any distractions.

"We always have had a mid-week date," said Rev. Diamond.

"We schedule in time apart from our children and our jobs. We don't let our jobs and outside responsibilities live us," he said.

After Rev. Diamond performs the marriage ceremony for a couple, he extends an open invitation for the man and wife to return if they wish to talk about the ups and downs of life together.

"Sadly enough, very few people have taken us up on this offer," he said.

"There are always some people who are nervous or who don't want to be there. We go around the room and ask couples how they met and their first impressions of each other. It's a real ice breaker."

EDITORIALS

Groundings in love

Two of our favorite stories in today's Townsmen have to do with families. Sometimes the public accuses newspapers of publishing only depressing, bad-news stories.

Both of the stories on families are good news, news we all need and will enjoy reading and remembering.

Ruth Bell Clark of Andover has written about her mother, Evelyn Bell of Methuen, and how she appreciates the mothering she received from her.

Brad Pearson wrote about his former family home, 253 Andover St., and the love he remembers and cherishes that he received from his grandparents who lived there. He called them Grampy and Nana: Roy Messer Pearson Sr. and his wife, Bessie (May) Ricker.

Both pieces are beautifully written, with words that obviously were carefully measured and thought about — with love. Both pieces reflect the importance of family, and of grounding children in love.

Ms. Clark, who was one of the winners of the Andover Center Association's essay contest on best mothers, seems well grounded and secure in the loving and cheerful atmosphere her mother created.

Mr. Pearson, in writing about his grandparents, gives us a feeling of security and love. He is sitting on his Grampy's lap "in his favorite chair, safe and secure within the circle of his gentle arms." We can feel the safety of his large arms and perhaps the worn fabric on the overstuffed arm chair. It is a lovely portrait, one we all would do well to remember today when the world sometimes seems to be fighting close family pictures.

Mr. Pearson writes of learning the value of work by helping shell peas or move wood; he writes of seeing his grandparents, arm in arm.

Today, we are reading of arson, murder, punishment to the environment, loss of morality and other frightening ideas. We welcome the stories by Mr. Pearson and Ms. Clark.

Two senior citizens enjoying themselves at the recent "Senior Prom" held at the Andover Marriott are Joan and Edward Martin. Mary Byrne, director of the Andover Council on Aging and the Senior Center, reports the prom was very successful.

He gives and takes pleasure from singing

By Perry Colmore Catlin

By the time Andover High School senior Marcus DeLoach was in sixth grade, his mother, Elaine DeLoach, realized her only child's voice was good.

"He played the king in The King and I when he was in sixth grade," his mother told me this week, the day after her son's senior vocal recital at Methuen Memorial Music Hall where he and North Reading High School senior Catherine Lambert packed the hall. "He had a big stage presence when he was the king."

But during his years in junior high school, Marcus' singing "faded away," according to his mother. I asked her what he was doing and she paused for a moment: "He was being a teen-ager," she answered.

He sure wasn't being a teen-ager

Sunday afternoon in his concert. Even though he is only 18 years old, this baritone ("slightly higher than a bass" is how Marcus defines a baritone) sings with the maturity and depth of someone who has nurtured his kind of talent for 10 years.

It was during his ninth-grade year at Andover High School that his mother realized her son's voice was extraordinary. His voice had changed by ninth grade. That year, Marcus played the lead in Oklahoma. "That was the first time I had heard him since his voice changed," his mother admitted. "It was very special when I heard it then."

It was very special when I heard it last year and even more special when I heard it Sunday. He sang pieces by G.F. Handel, J.S. Bach, one by his teacher, Marie Stultz, playful music by Gilbert & Sullivan and more. He and Ms. Lambert sang a couple of duets with poise and humor. And even though Ms. Lambert is talented and wonderful to hear, Mr. DeLoach is so talented she might have appeared better alone.

He is going to the New England Conservatory of Music and this summer he is singing in England with the Treble Chorus of New England.

Sunday, he sang with a sense of humor. He did I Bought Me a Cat by Aaron Copland, and had the audience laughing when he played the part of all the animals. Actually, he told me this week that when he first sang that piece, he thought it was "totally silly," but he began to like it.

Contributing to the sense that he is older than 18, is his poise, his ability to enunciate so well and his expressive face.

My companions and I discussed his interesting facial expressions at Sunday's concert, so I asked his mother and him about that. Often, you can't see his eyes while he is singing because they are either shut or he's squinting quite a bit. He almost looks as if the bright lights are bothering him (they weren't, he

We want day care at night

Editor, Townsmen:

We would like "Day Care at Night" so parents with school-age children can attend Andover Town Meeting. "Day Care at Night" is no longer a convenience, but a necessity.

Parents with school-age children want to address school issues like classroom repair, school renovation, annual budgets and bond authorizations which come up at Andover Town Meeting. These issues not only affect our pocketbooks, but also our children's education.

"Day Care at Night" would make it easier for parents with school-age children to attend Andover Town Meeting, which is held during school nights. Parents can't just leave school-age children home alone to attend Town Meeting.

It is hard to get a baby sitter on a school night. Baby sitters don't work on school nights because they themselves are school children. Also, quite often, one of two parents travel as a part of their normal job responsibility. Under such conditions, it is difficult for the remaining parent to attend Town Meeting without "Day Care at Night."

We propose that if a portion of the Andover High School adjacent to the Collins Center were made available, we would make "Day Care at Night" possible. Parents attending Town Meeting would feel comfortable knowing that their children were being cared for next door.

Four suggestions: We want to organize some simple, but effective programs, for "Day Care at Night." We suggest 1. "Pajama Party" for younger children. When Town Meeting is over, these younger children would already be dressed for bed when they get home.

2. "Story Time" with a storyteller is not only entertaining, but low cost.

3. "Video Time" showing a Disney program would be not only fun, but also educational.

4. For serious students, a "Home-work Area" would be a quiet spot to study.

The town of Andover is well equipped to run "Day Care at Night." The town of Andover routinely handles major programs for town citizens like training baby-sitters through the Andona Society, publicizing big public events like Arts in the Park and running summer recreation programs like Camp Shawsheen.

Although a new idea for us, the town of North Andover already offers day care at night for school-age children at their town meetings.

Simple snacks like popcorn and juice drinks could be made available for night-time nourishment. If we get enough support, we could offer an "Ice Cream Smorgasbord," a fun event for the children attending "Day Care at Night."

So we can keep total costs low for "Day Care at Night," we would solicit volunteers to help conduct the program. If properly conducted, any "Day Care at Night" cash surplus could be used to benefit our school children while providing a major service to parents attending Town Meeting.

We want to make "Day Care at Night" a success. In addition to providing assistance and volunteers, we want to announce this program to Andover families with school-age children through the Parent Teacher Organizations (PTOs) at all the elementary, middle and high schools. We would appreciate help from other organizations, too, like the League of Women Voters, the Andona Society, high school groups, just to name a few.

But we need your support. We need a portion of Andover High School to be made available for "Day Care at Night." For our part, we will help plan and execute the child-care program with the town of Andover.

We must address the important school issues that face us at Town Meeting. If you can help in any way, big or small, please call us. At Andover

Town Meeting, let's offer "Day Care at Night."

Begs to differ with prom letter

Editor, Townsmen:

I was very surprised to read the letter "Proms are best as couples-only" in last week's Townsmen.

I do not feel that a couples-only dance is a romantic tradition that we would like to retain. I actually wish that more students were encouraged to go to the prom without a date so that they felt included in their high school's extra-curricular events. I think it is sad that so many people in our society view being part of a couple as a ticket to a social life.

And what about the students who would feel more comfortable going to a prom with a group of friends as opposed to the awkwardness of "digging up" a date just so that they could attend a dance? The idea that someone is less desirable because they prefer the independence of being alone or with a group of friends as opposed to a partner in a couple is outdated and discriminatory. To make an issue of who can or cannot attend a high school prom seems like a trivial matter compared with all the problems that our youth face today. I hope that energy will be put to better use in helping our young people with legitimate issues of our times.

Dan Quayle was right

Editor, Townsmen:

Those who are criticizing Vice President Quayle for his remarks about Murphy Brown are, for the most part, liberals who know full well the powerful tool that television has become in promoting certain social values to the American public. The huge negative reaction to Dan Quayle's observation indicates to me that these liberals are afraid that the average American might come to realize that television does more than merely entertain.

The television industry has succeeded in cleverly sending its pro-feminist, pro-abortion, anti-marriage and anti-family message into our homes. This poison is delivered wrapped in a most palatable sugar coating (in this case it was Murphy Brown).

Let's not be deceived on this one. Dan Quayle knew what he was talking about.

Editor, Townsmen:

Kudos and thank you's belong to those whose efforts produced the Andover High School career day on April 30. Initiated by the AHS Parent Advisory Council, this day was the result of the joint efforts of townspeople, AHS principal Tim Thomas, AHS vice principal Ellen Parker, the administrative and teaching staff at AHS, parents, and over 80 professionals who volunteered their day to speak to 1,200 high school students. What a success!

Over 80 persons volunteered their time to come to Andover High School to talk to the students about their careers. The business talent represented was incredibly diverse. Our students responded by requesting over 7,000 passes to see and hear these professionals. Enthusiasm was high and excitement overflowed the halls.

As vice president of the Parent Advisory Council in charge of Career Day, a special thank you must go to Ellen Parker for her untiring efforts to make the entire day run smoothly for students and speakers alike. The goal: To make this day a success for the students.

It must be noted that the students responded in an exemplary manner. Their excitement and pride showed. They were interested audience members and were truly equal participants in making this first Career Day a success.

It is especially worthy of note that this was an entire community effort centered upon the high school. The participation of members of the community, the work of the entire high school population and the help and hospitality of the PAC parents created an effort that affected every student at Andover High School.

James B. Krasnoo Vice president
AHS Parent Advisory Council

Pleasures from singing . . .

said), but the expressions he comes up with are pleasing, interesting, appropriate for the words he's singing.

His mother told me Marcus just got contact lenses. She said that while her son was auditioning for colleges this past fall, several professors asked if he could possibly not wear his glasses since his face is so expressive. The glasses make it harder to see his eyes.

"I am working to open my eyes more," Marcus told me Tuesday. When he wore glasses, he squinted. I told him I hope he won't change his interesting expressions, and he said he is sure he won't. I asked what he is thinking of when that full voice is filling the hall.

"I'm trying my best to convey the meaning of the words," he answered. "The words are more important than the music. The music is there to enhance the words."

Marcus' mother reports her son is "a little bit shy" and that he is "not a big mixer." I asked her if he sings in the shower and she said no, he doesn't sing at home at all. Well, she thought that one over and added that the neighbors report they hear him singing when he's home alone. Yes, the neighbors would hear him - that's how much his voice carries.

Does he like to sing?

"Oh, yeah," he said without hesitating. "It gives me a lot of pleasure to sing for people."

Your Dental HEALTH

DENTAL CONCERNS AFTER 30

For those over the age of 30, the thought of cavities may seem to be a distant one, but nothing could be further from the truth. Silver amalgam fillings are designed to last between seven and ten years. After that, they may chip, crack or shrink, thereby allowing decay-causing bacteria to gain new access for cavity forming activity. For this reason, it is not uncommon to find new cavity formation around the periphery of old fillings. These areas must be checked in order to prevent a resurgence of tooth decay. It is also necessary to examine regularly areas where the gums have receded due to periodontal disease. As gums pull back, they leave roots exposed to plaque. The cementum covering a tooth's root is much softer than enamel, and quite vulnerable to decay.

Keep up with regular dental checkups will give your dentist a chance to watch the problem areas of your teeth and gums. And a problem kept in check is one that will save you in treatment time and dental costs. Preventive dentistry is one of the most important services we provide here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93. For complete family dental care, we invite you to call 475-2431. Office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment. P.S. In these days of fluoridated water and tooth sealants, 50 percent of all those under age 17 are cavity-free.

Man charged with domestic violence

By Don Staruk

Douglas C. Barron, 28, of 73 Bellevue Road, was arrested at Barron's County Store on Lowell Street Tuesday night and charged with assault and battery on a household member and threatening to commit murder after charges were filed at the Andover police station by his girlfriend.

Andover police did not identify the victim, but said she was from Dracut.

According to Andover police, the woman came to the police station at 8:30 Tuesday night with her sister and reported she'd been assaulted by Mr. Barron.

She said she had gone to Barron's Country Store, Mr. Barron's family's business, at 5:15 p.m. to meet Mr. Barron at his request.

She said she got in his car with him and drove up Haggetts Pond Road and the two began arguing and he allegedly grabbed her by the throat. The woman told police he had previously threatened to kill her.

Officer Randall Peterson obtained arrest warrants for assault and battery and threatening to commit a crime (murder) from Lawrence District Court and Mr. Barron was arrested a short time later outside the Country Store. He was held overnight on $25,000 cash bail and was scheduled to be arraigned in Lawrence District Court Wednesday, after the Townsmen went to press.

Police report the alleged victim took out an emergency 209 A restraining order Tuesday night from Dracut.

Relief Act of 1940 as amended:

Whereas, Andover Bank N/A Andover Savings Bank claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property situated at 16 Jelwood Street, North Andover, Essex County, MA and more fully described in said mortgage, given by Barbara Nicolosi, Trustee of the Vito Realty Trust w/d/t April 28, 1989 recorded with the Essex North District Registry of Deeds, Book 3048, Page 271 of 16 Jelwood Street, North Andover, to Andover Bank f/k/a Andover Savings Bank dated July 26, 1991 and recorded in Essex North District Registry of Deeds, Book 3921, Page 83, has filed with said court a bill in equity for authority to foreclose said mortgage by entry and possession and exercise of a power of sale.

If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldiers and Sailors' Relief Act of 1940, as amended and you object to such foreclosure of said mortgage, you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in said court at Salem, in said County of Essex, on or before the 29th day of June 1992, which day is the return day of this subpoena, or you may be forever barred from claiming that such foreclosure is invalid under said act.

Man charged in alleged home scams

By Lisa Boudreau

An Andover resident has been charged in connection with alleged home improvement scams affecting dozens of consumers, suppliers, subcontractors and employees.

According to Suffolk Superior Court documents, the attorney general's office alleges that John Ristuccia, 60, of 4 Brentwood Drive, and Kenneth Aborn of Revere and Paul Swerling of Peabody, doing business through two companies operated by Mr. Ristuccia, "engaged in a scheme to solicit money from homeowners by offering home improvement services that they never intended to perform."

On Tuesday, May 12, Mr. Ristuccia was arrested at his home and charged on two warrants, one from Woburn and another from North Reading, both for larceny by check. He was arrested again on Thursday, May 28, and charged on another larceny warrant.

At presstime the Andover police could not say whether the larceny arrests last month were connected to the home improvement scam charges. Two of the businesses named in the suit, Pro-Tec-To Rolling Shutters of New England Inc. and Rolling Shutters Systems of New England Inc., both operated by Mr. Ristuccia, appear to have closed operations, according to the attorney general's office.

Better Home Concepts, a Saugus home contracting company, was also named in the attorney general's complaint.

Here's a cross section of the graduating class

By Mary Katis

They have favorite teachers, some real goals, college plans and long lists of activities they participated in during high school. They are the class of 1992, 213 strong, at North Andover High and they graduate tomorrow, Friday, at 7 p.m. in the North Andover Memorial Fieldhouse.

Stephanie Barrett is the class valedictorian and Jessica Matchett, the salutatorian.

These are kids who learned to work with cut budgets. They looked for creative ways to raise funds for athletics, drama, the literary magazine, year book and other school activities.

The 1992 class can boast about their 'championship girls' and boys' basketball teams, plus girls' indoor track and soccer teams. The class was conservative minded and set up a can and bottle redemption center in front of the high school, adding revenue to help offset some of the budget cuts. An exciting pep rally was staged by seniors with a school spirit that supported their football team. A drive-in movie night was well attended and added $600 to the school's fundraising efforts.

Pat Kennedy, Erin Wheeler, Brian Townsend, Helen Hong and Sam Vergé are part of this class. They represent a cross-section of the students. They have different interests and different goals. The following is a short profile of a handful of the class of 1992.

Pat Kennedy

Pat Kennedy: Son of Mary Ellen Kennedy, 777 Johnson St., North Andover, and the late Joseph Kennedy.

School activities: Soccer team, four years; track team captain, four years; member of SADD, Students Against Drunk Driving; Safe Rides Committee; supported Student Council projects; participated in Boys State, a law and government program sponsored by Bentley College; volunteered to help the Special Olympics in track.

Favorite teacher: Raymond Grady, history teacher; Joe Belivaqua, business teacher; and Richard Rozzi, vice principal. "Mr. Grady made the course interesting," said Mr. Kennedy. "Mr. Belivaqua always made himself available to talk and encourage students. Mr. Rozzi is a person who reached out and made students feel they could talk to him. I remember my coaches more than teachers. Mr. (Jack) Kelly, a track coach, made a difference at North Andover for me."

College choices: Merrimack College and University of Lowell. Mr. Kennedy hasn't decided which school he will attend, but has decided to study business with an emphasis on accounting and management.

Goals: "I made good friends in high school and I want to keep them," he said. "I plan to make an effort to keep in touch."

Erin Wheeler

Erin Wheeler: Daughter of Joan and Jack Wheeler, 325 Summer St., North Andover.

School activities: Played flute and piccolo in the band, four years; drum major, two years; ski team captain, senior year; Theatre Guild, crew member for Fairy Tale Theatre; softball, three years; and field hockey, two years.

Favorite teacher: Phillip Towle, advanced placement biology teacher. "Mr. Towle encouraged students to work on their own with his supervision," said Ms. Wheeler. "Create your own lab with a focus to the future was a year-long study project. I used the Charles River Lab in Boston to work with cryonic methods, a process of freezing cells in a lab to be restored to life at a later date."

College Choice: University of Massachusetts at Amherst. She has been accepted in a biology scholarship program.

Goals: "To succeed in college and not get caught up in the crazy stuff," Ms. Wheeler said. "To keep a balance of social life and learning. I hope to become a pediatrician."

Sam Vergé

Sam Vergé: Son of Victoria Wag-touicz, 6 Bailey Road, Dracut.

School activities: Band, four years. "Drums are my life," said Mr. Vergé. Leadership Committee in the Greater Lawrence Collaborative; participated in year-long study on racism; speech class; pep rally, drums; school play, Block Comedy; Youth Services with Rick Gorman, helping with the skate-board park at Drummond Park.

Favorite teacher: Raymond Grady, history teacher. "Mr. Grady is a plain nice guy," said Mr. Vergé. "He almost killed me when I pierced my ears."

College choice: Northeastern University. He plans to study United States history. He will create his own study plan in the history studies program.

Goals: "To be happy in life," said Mr. Vergé. "Rich and poor can find misery."

Brian Townsend

Brian Townsend: Son of Kathleen Townsend, 22 Camden St., North Andover, and Robert Townsend of Andover.

School activities: Football, three years, varsity football in his junior and senior year; sports editor for the yearbook; AFS, American Field Studies; pep rally participant; participated in a mock United Nations event sponsored by Lawrence High.

Favorite teacher: Raymond Grady, advanced placement history teacher. "He is down to earth, taught differently than other teachers and made the subject interesting," said Mr. Townsend. "He shows an interest in each student and isn't afraid to offer help. He helped me think about colleges and pointed out things to look at when I was applying."

College choice: Westfield State offered Mr. Townsend a football scholarship. He plans to study political science and criminal justice.

Goal: "Get a job," he said. "I would like to work for the CIA or FBI but these jobs have certain physical limits that may hold me back. I am also interested in physical therapy and pharmacy."

Helen Hong

Helen Hong: Daughter of Ray and Lisa Hong, 140 Autran Ave., North Andover.

School activities: HEAL, organization to help the Earth through awareness and love; secretary of AFS; Speech Team; Theatre Guild president, senior year, director of the play Fairy Tale Theatre; assistant manager for the play Double Exposure; volunteered to give the Gettysburg Address at the North

Andover Memorial Day Ceremony

Favorite teachers and heroes: Annie Kra, foreign language teacher. She formed the organization, HEAL, which is an environment/social-action group. "She always took her lunch in a reusable bag and carried her own mug, not a disposable one," said Ms. Hong. "She inspired students with discussion groups for the environment and conservation."

Emmett J. Goggin, principal of North Andover High School. "Mr. Goggin was most supportive of the theater project and volunteered to be the adviser when we had none," Ms. Hong said. "He is a wonderful human being."

Julia Gaynor, fellow student of Ms. Hong's. "Julia has influenced me so much," said Ms. Hong. "She has a good business head and isn't afraid to follow her dreams."

College choice: University of Massachusetts at Amherst. She plans to study communications and radio broadcasting.

Goals: "To have an effect wherever I go," said Ms. Hong. "I made an impact at North Andover High by being involved and taking leadership. The Theatre Guild was dormant for seven years and the students at North Andover High really took it and shook it up."

PA teacher imports hair dresses for prom

By Lisa Boudreau

Bobby Edwards, associate dean of admissions and director of people of color recruitment at Phillips Academy, spent last Saturday in his kitchen. But he wasn't cooking. He was perming, curling and blow drying hair, helping a dozen students get ready for the prom.

His kitchen was turned into a makeshift hair salon where 12 girls had their hair done for the prom by a stylist flown in from Washington, D.C.

Calvinn Green, a hair stylist and college friend of Mr. Edwards, flew to Massachusetts Saturday morning and permed, curled and arranged hair until 6:30 that night.

Besides going to school together at Howard University in Washington D.C., the two also worked on many fashion shows together when Mr. Edwards was a model in Washington.

Since then Mr. Edwards has coordinated several fashion shows in the area for charity. In every contract he's worked in a clause to have his friend do the models' hair.

"He'd come here before and had worked with some of the girls before," Mr. Edwards said.

When prom time rolled around this spring, several of the girls asked Mr. Edwards to forward questions to his friend on hair sprays to hold styles for the prom. Enough students showed interest in pitching in $30 each to fly Mr. Green to the state to do their hair.

"When I asked him if he'd come up to do the young ladies' hair if we could finance his plane trip, he said he'd come on one condition— if I'd be his assistant and help him. So when after he started one young lady's hair, I'd finish the blow drying," Mr. Edwards said.

Celebrating with balloons

Doherty Middle School acting principal, Floyd McManus, now full-fledge principal, walked into an office filled with balloons and congratulations banners Wednesday, May 27, the morning after the School Committee unanimously chose him over two other candidates for the job.

Walking for a cause

By Betsy Frankenberger

Andover High School sophomore Amy Parziale decided to walk in last Sunday's 1992 AIDS walk. In trying to gain sponsors, what she ended up with was far more than she expected: Not only were people sponsoring her, but they also began asking for pledge sheets.

Amy intended to gather a group of at least 50 students to participate in the seventh annual From All Walks of Life pledge walk, which is the largest AIDS fund-raiser in New England. Many AHS students were enthusiastic, said Amy, but unfortunately, many of them "just did not follow through."

Why were there only 10 students who decided to march Sunday? Said Kira Nicoletti, a senior, two days before the march, "Everyone is wearing sponsor pins. I think a lot of students are planning on going."

The small amount of student participation disappointed Amy. Initially she was constantly approached by students who wanted to walk. However, things slowly turned around for Amy as she became the one trying to remind students about the march. At a May 29 meeting, only five students attended.

It is possible that just not enough students were informed of Amy's plan. Freshman Tom Gawlik said that he had not heard of the 1992 AIDS walk, but when asked if he would have joined in, had he known the facts, he answered with a strong "yes!"

But the faculty seemed to know what was taking place. Shirley Tripoli, a nurse's aide, knew that such an event was being planned, and felt it was a "terrific idea." Other faculty members felt the same. John Darrin and David Gangi worked with Amy and helped her to organize group meetings, make announcements and more. Amy said that she would have gotten "nowhere" without them.

In regard to AIDS awareness at AHS, Amy believes that although students realize that anyone can contract the AIDS virus, regardless of his or her sexual preference, still, the it-will-never-happen-to-me attitude mildly floats around the school. Moreover, Amy believes that AIDS is still stigmatized by homosexuality.

"One person asked me if there would be 'many gays' in the march... It surprised me that people were still so close-minded," she said.

More than 35,000 people marched in the 1992 AIDS walk in Boston, raising $2.5 million for the AIDS Action Committee.

Trekking for fun

By Don Staruk

Members of the Andover Trail Committee were out Tuesday night building a bridge over Fish Brook in West Andover in preparation for the start of the third annual Bay Circuit Trek this weekend.

The 10-day, 160-mile hike, bike and canoe adventure from Ipswich to Duxbury in a ring around Boston, begins at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, June 5, at Crane Beach in Ipswich and ends on Sunday, June 14, at Bay Farms on the Duxbury-Kingston line.

The Bay Circuit Alliance is an organization dedicated to the preservation of greenspace, and the establishment of a contiguous ring conservation land through the communities encircling Boston. The yearly hike was started three years ago as a means of bringing attention and support to the conservation effort.

Alan French, of 17 Moreland Ave., BCA chairman, this week encouraged Andover residents to join the trekkers on a part of the trail through Andover, or for as much of the route as they like.

Friday's hike will be from Crane Beach to Hood Pond in Ipswich. On Saturday, June 6, two groups will hike, one from the Ward Reservation at Holt Hill in Andover, at 9:30 a.m. The other picks back up at Hood Pond at 9 a.m. and will rendezvous with the first group at Lockwood Field at 2:30 p.m. for a barbecue.

Trekkers will go through Andover on day three, Sunday, June 7, starting at the Lowell National Historic Park in Lowell at 8:30 a.m. and ending back at Holt Hill. Day three includes a short canoe ride on the Merrimack River as hikers will be ferried around Trull Brook Golf Course in Tewksbury.

Organizers request trekkers register ahead of time so they can prepare for the hike. Registration is free, but Bay Circuit Trek T-shirts can be purchased for $10.

For more information, contact Mr. French at the Moor and Mountain outfitting shop, or call 470-1982. Carl Demrow, of the Appalachian Mountain Club, is organizing the daily hikes and can be reached at 5 Joy St., Boston, Mass. 02108, (617)523-0655, Ext. 314.

Josh Miner, of 42 School St., former dean of admissions at Phillips Academy, and pilot Steve Foss, PA class of 1959, touch down on a playing field at PA last Friday. Mr. Miner got a ride from his friend, who owns Business Helicopters in New Hampshire, to his grandson's high school graduation in Sheffield. Mr. Miner was the commencement speaker at the ceremony.

Frosh clinch MVC championship

By Rick Harrison

Undefeated right-hander Pat Walsh fired a masterful complete-game five-hitter, and Dan Hansberry's two-run double key a pivotal five-run second inning, as the Andover High freshman baseball team ripped Lawrence 9-1 to clinch its fourth straight Merrimack Valley Conference championship.

Coach Ken Maglio's club, struggling at 3-3 after six games, won nine straight and went unbeaten in the month of May en route to a final record of 12-3.

Lawrence, edged 4-3 by Andover just five days earlier, had to settle for second place with an 11-4 overall ledger.

Walsh was in complete control as he hiked his record to 5-0, pitching shutout ball over the final six innings and finishing with a five-hitter, six strikeouts and two walks.

The Young Warriors erased a 1-0 deficit in the bottom of the second inning at West Middle School, Walsh starting a five-run uprising by reaxhed second on a two-base throwing error. He stole third, Tom Gardner walked, and consecutive RBI singles were laced by Mike Maguire and Paul Cassidy to make it 2-1.

Hansberry two-bagger

Hansberry then ripped his game-breaking two-run double to center field, and Dave Charland sent the fifth run across with a single.

The lead jumped to 8-1 in the fourth on successive two-out singles by Alex Marshall, Tom Tanin and Walsh (RBI). Tanin and Walsh both scored when Gardner's grounder was mis-played.

The final run came in the fifth when Danny Hansberry singled, stole second, took third on Charland's infield out and scored on Marshall's infield out.

Hansberry was the only player with two hits, while other safeties were contributed by C.J. Dadd and Nate Roberts.

Mike Maguire was the defensive star of the game in left field, making a pair of over-the-shoulder running catches in the gap to end the third and fifth innings.

Pat Walsh finished the season at 5-0 with one save and a 0.93 ERA. In 37.2 innings he allowed 38 hits and five earned runs, walking 10 and striking out 23.

Top batting averages for the season belonged to Mike Maguire (.480), Tom Tanin (.460), Ryan Moynihan (.458) who missed the last three games with a badly bruised shoulder (hockey game), Alex Marshall (.425), Dan Hansberry (.362), Dave Charland (.300), Pat Walsh (.288) and Tom Gardner (.281).

Tanin was the power source with four home runs, three triples, three doubles and 20 RBI.

Marshall had one homer, four triples, three doubles and 12 RBI, while Hansberry contributed three triples and five doubles. Walsh shared the team lead in RBI with 20.

The Andover freshmen outscored their 15 opponents, 138-49, including 83-16 in the nine-game winning streak.

Coach Maglio's

Boys' track team wins another championship

Girls forced to settle for second

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' and girls' track teams came impressively close to sweeping both Eastern Mass. State Class B Championships last weekend at Reading High.

The boys, who should battle Class A champ Brockton and New Bedford for All-State honors this Saturday, rode the first place quality performances of thoroughbreds Jason McCue, Steve Shepard and Jamie Damon to the school's 12th Class title (B, C and D).

The girls almost completed the daily double, but were forced to settle for second place because Tewksbury's Mary Brady put together a career day for the winning Redgals.

The boys qualified five individuals and a sprint relay team for the All-State Meet at Bridgewater State College on Saturday, while the girls also advanced five individuals and two relay teams.

Andover boys' teams have won six All-State titles in the past, the most recent in 1984, while the girls will be looking for their first All State crown.

Andover boys

The Golden Warriors' 1992 spring track odyssey continued with major championship No. 5 added to an undefeated (9-0-0) dual meet season.

Undefeated senior hurdler Jason McCue won the 110-meter highs in 14.5, undefeated junior hurdler Steve Shepard smoked the field with a 39.4 clocking in the 300-meter intermediates, and senior Captain Jamie Damon showed no ill effects from a recent hamstring injury when he blazed to victory in the 100 meters with an 11.2 time.

All three efforts were fractions of a second above the terrific trio's personal bests, which in McCue and Damon's cases are also school records.

Senior Matt Harris joined McCue, Shepard and Damon on Andover's premiere 4x100 meter sprint relay team, which captured the fourth first place finish in a swift 43.4.

Also going to the All-State Meet will be senior discus thrower Bob Dalton, whose 141'0" toss placed him second, and surprising freshman long jumper Brian Marshall who broke his own week-old ninth grade school record with a 20'9" leap for third place.

Scoring in the Class B Meet, but barely missing All-State qualification (top four advance), were senior pole vaulters Steve Bernard and Dan Wrigley who tied for fifth after clearing 10'6."

Senior Chris Pothier picked up one point as well with a sixth-place 40'11" leap in the triple jump.

Each of the Andover scorers received a medal, and continuing on to Bridgewater will be McCue, Shepard, Damon, Harris, Marshall and Dalton.

Andover girls

Unbeaten 300-meter hurdler Holly Clark, and the sprint relay quartet of freshmen Amy Levesque, Jamie Barron, Alex Wendt and senior Captain Jill Ippolito, won their specialties to pace the Lady Warriors to their second place finish.

Tewksbury earned its second straight Class B title with 59 points, while Andover had 51 and Randolph was a distant third at 32. Rounding out the leaders were Norwood (30), Whitman-Hanson (30) and Woburn (26).

The Andover girls were B champs in 1989, and since then have a pair of second places (1990, '92) and a third ('91).

Holly Clark won the intermediate hurdles in 46.4, a half-second above her personal best, while the sprint relay crew broke tape in 50.7.

Sophomore Stacey Lavoie was second in the 100-meter hurdles (16.0), and the 4x400 meter relay foursome of Holly Clark, Jennifer Batts, Layne Whitley and sophomore Sarah Witman was second (4:09.9).

AHS track teams close season on high notes

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' track team completed an impressive 9-0-0 dual meet season with a pair of recent victories, the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School champs blasting Haverhill 94-51 and surpassing 100 points for the fifth time in a 107-37 romp over Small School member Wilmington.

The MVC Large School champion Lady Warriors also closed the 1992 campaign with two lopsided wins, closing at 5-3-0 overall after hammering Haverhill 87-49 and topping 100 for the second time in a 116-20 decision over Wilmington.

The AHS girls won their final three meets and are now 29-3-0 in their last 32 duals.

Coach Dick Collins used the Wilmington meet to get a look at many of his younger athletes under fire, testing many of his top performers such as Steve Shepard, Jason McCue, Jamie Damon, Holly Clark, Jill Ippolito and an injured Stacey Lavoie so they would be fresh for the State Class B Meet.

On the girls' side six different events were won by freshmen, the first time that has ever been done in an AHS varsity meet.

Rebecca Goldenberg scored the Lady Warriors' first 'triple' of the season by winning the long jump, triple jump and 300 meter hurdles, while other ninth grade victors were Amanda Verrault (800 meters), Carolyn Vallee (high jump) and Amy Levesque (100 meters).

Andover boys, 107-37

The Golden Warriors had 12 different athletes win one event each en route to the triumph over Wilmington.

Sweeps were accomplished in the shot put, long jump, discus, pole vault and 400 meters.

Field event winners were Ted Ratyna (javelin, 140'1"), shot putter J. P. Ciruso (45'11"), long jumper Brian Marshall (20'7"), Phil Smith in the discus (121'7"), high jumper Larry Gibson (6'0") and pole vaulter Steve Bernard (10'6").

Breaking tape in the running events were Larry Gibson (400 meters, 55.1), Mark Adams (800 meters, 2:11.0), miler Max Dawson (4:59.0), 2-miler Chad Collins (10:59.0), 110-meter high hurdler Jamie Himer (16.4) and 300-meter intermediate hurdler Jon Cirella (43.0).

Versatile Jill Ippolito was third in the long jump (16'8") and sixth in the 100 meter dash (12.9), freshman Rebecca Goldenberg fourth in the 300-meter hurdles (48.9) and freshman Amy Levesque fourth in the 200 meter dash (27.9).

Pesky Mary Brady had a personal hand in 30 of Tewksbury's 59 points.

Despite attending the prom the night before, Brady set school records while winning the long jump (17'6"), 400 meters (57.8) and running an amazing 56.9 anchor leg on the victorious 4x400 meter relay.

Andover was approximately 40 yards ahead of Tewksbury after the first three legs of the 4x400 relay, but Brady took the baton and caught the Lady Warriors' runner to win by Completing the shot sweep were Sean O'Leary (43'4") and Brian Adams (38'10"), 2-3 in the long jump went to Chris Pothier (19'7") and Kevin Foltz (19'0"), 2-3 in the discus to Robert Lane (119'10") and Adam Goddard (110'8"), 2-3 in the pole vault to Dan Wrigley (10'0"), Tadg Corkery (11e) and Todd Taylor (both 9'0"), and 2-3 in the 400 meters to Vic Radina (57.1) and Jeff Grace (57.7).

Other runners-up were Alan Guibord in the javelin (137'7"), Pothier in the triple jump (39'0"), high jumper Andy Leinson (5'6"), sprinters Rob Weisman (100 meters, 11.9) and Peter Murphy (200 meters, 21.0), miler Ben Moyer (5:06.0) and two-miler Dave Bevacqua (11:00).

Additional third places were garnered by triple jumper Polyz (37'10"), high jumper Mike O'Sullivan (5'6"), 110 meter hurdler Eric Fox (17.4), Ryan Kelly in the 100 meters (12.0), Jason Hastings (200 meters, 24.3), Dan Buchholz (800 meters, 2:20.0) and 2-miler Kevin Shepard (11:00.7).

Collins, Bevacqua and Shepard ran virtually side-by-side the entire 2-mile race and finished less than two seconds apart.

Andover boys, 94-51

Another Steve Shepard triple led the undefeated Golden Warriors to 11 first place finishes and sweeps of the triple jump, high jump, pole vault and two-mile against Haverhill.

Shepard was best in the long jump (22'3"), triple jump (42'1") and 300 meter intermediate hurdles (40.7) for the seventh dual meet this spring.

Other AHS field event winners were high jumper Larry Gibson (5'8") and pole vaulter Steve Bernard (10'6").

Jason McCue remained undefeated in the 110-meter high hurdles (14.6), and Matt Harris stepped up in Jamie Damon's absence to win the 100 meters (11.3).

Andover continued to dominate the distance races as Colin Arsenault won the 800 meters (2:03.1), Brian Twomey the mile (4:43.9) and Jeremy Roux the two-mile (10:37.1).

The AHS 4x400 meter relay team of Brian Croteau, Matt Harris, Rob Weisman and Peter Murphy placed first in 3:48.0.

Completing the triple jump sweep were Jon Hess (42'0") and Chris Pothier (41'1"), while 2-3 in the high jump were Andy Leinson (5'8") and Mike O'Sullivan (tie, 5'6"), 2-3 in the pole vault Tadg Corkery (10'0") and Steve Kulczar (10'0"), and 2-3 in the discus Mark Adams (10:35.0) and Max Dawson (10:38.0).

Additional second places went to McCue, who duelled Haverhill's Matt Woelfel in the 200 meters (22.4), shot putter Sean O'Leary (personal best 46'0"), Todd Allard (javelin, 152'6"), Hess (long jump, 20'11"), Co-Captain Mike Giaimo (400 in 53.6), 300 hurdler Jon Cirella (43.0) and freshman Matt Ely (800 in 2:03.2).

Third places were taken by shot putter J.P. Ciruso (44'10"), Bob Dalton (discus, 129'0"), Barret Elliott (javelin, 149'0"), Jamie Himer (170 hurdles, 16.7), Rob Weisman (100 meters, 11.8), miler Chad Collins (4:53.0), Jason Hastings (400 in 54.7) and Peter Murphy (200 in 25.5).

Andover girls, 116-20

The Lady Warriors placed first in a lucky 13 events against Wilmington, sweeping the shot put, long jump, triple jump, high jump, all three sprints including the 100 meters (three freshmen), 200 meters, 400 meters, 800 meters and mile.

Rebecca Goldenberg's impressive triple included a 31'2" triple jump, 14'9" long jump and 51.7 clocking in the 300-meter hurdles.

Other AHS field event winners were shot putter Nicole Kelley (29'8") and high jumper Carolyn Vallee (4'8").

Amy Levesque (13.3) led the freshman sweep of the 100 meters, with Jamie Barron (also 13.3) and Melissa Gould (13.9) rounding out the trio of prospects.

Melissa Gould also ran anchor leg on the victorious 4x100 meter relay team (55.0), following Michelle Morey, Heather Whiles and Jackie Flowers.

Other sprint winners were Alex Wendt (200 meters, 28.9) and Sarah Wallace (400 meters, 68.5).

The distance aces were Amanda Verrault in the 800 meters (2:48.0), miler Amanda Holmes (6:04.0) and two-miler Diane Ellsworth (13:25.0).

Kasie Kearins captured the 100-meter hurdles in (16.7).

Kerry Hagerty grabbed a pair of second place finishes in the javelin (personal best 97'3") and discus (84'4"), while Anne Milroe was runner-up in the long jump (14'2") and triple jump (29'11").

Other second places were taken by shot putter Melissa Rao (26'5"), Verrault in the high jump (4'6"), hurdlers Chrissie Donovan (100 meters, 17.8) and Catherine Cornell (300 meters, 54.2), Heather Whiles in the 200 meters (30.0), Valerie Gould in the 400 meters (68.9), Kelly Cronin in the 800 meters (2:49.0) and miler Rebecca Morrison (6:18.0).

Collecting third place points were Grace Perry in the javelin (85'7"), Wendt in the shot (24'7"), long jumper Diane Dresser (14'1"), triple jumper Kate Parker (29'3"), freshman Marcie Lutsch in the discus (82'4"), high jumper Sarah Tully (4'4"), Andrea Minichiello in the 200 meters (31.2), Julie Rozopolous in the 400 meters (70.2), Karen Brocklesby in the 800 meters (2:49.5), miler Melanie McGarry (6:35.0) and 2-miler Ellen Mitchell (13:27.5).

Andover girls, 87-49

The Lady Warriors placed first in 11 events while sweeping the discus, long jump and 100 meter dash against Haverhill.

Sophomore Stacey Lavoie was a double winner in the triple jump (34'3") and 100 hurdles (15.8).

Rebecca Goldenberg won the long jump with a freshman school record 16'3" leap.

Other first place finishers in the field events were shot putter Nicole Kelley, Kerry Hagerty in the discus (73'2") and high jumper Carolyn Vallee (4'8").

Jill Ippolito won the 100 meters (12.5), Amy Levesque the 200 meters in a personal best 26.9, and Holly Clark remained perfect in the 300-meter hurdles (48.7).

The Lady Warriors 4x100 relay crew of Melissa Gould, Alex Wendt, Jamie Barron and Jill Ippolito crossed first in 51.4.

Freshman Marcie Lutsch (79'6") and junior Katie Rodger (72'3") were 2-3 in the discus, while other 2-3 finishes came from Co-Captains Ippolito (16'1") and Layne Whitley (15'10") in the long jump, Levesque (13.0) and Jamie Barron (13.1) in the 100 meters, Jen Batts (2:29.9) and Tricia McNeice (2:33.0) in the 800 meters, Amanda Gras so (12:48.0) and Diane Ellsworth (13:20.0) in the 2-mile.

Other seconds were added by Hagerty (javelin, 91'6") and Kasie Kearins (triple jump, personal best 32'11"), while thirds went top high jumper Catherine Cornell (4'6"), miler Leigh Clarke (4:51.0), 100 hurdler Kearins (16.8), 300 hurdler Goldenberg (51.5) and Alex Wendt (200 in 27.9).

Warriors fall second to Lions; girls end tennis season on top

By Rick Harrison

For the first time in eight years the Andover High boys' tennis team did not finish at the top of the Merrimack Valley Conference standings.

The Golden Warriors dropped an exciting 3-2 decision to undefeated Chelmsford in their recent final-week showdown, a match they needed to win to share the title with the Lions.

Chelmsford, which handed Andover its only two losses, finished the regular season at 16-0 in the league while second place AHS was 14-2.

The Golden Warriors, however, have been more successful in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament. Chelmsford won its first match 5-0 over Everett but was ousted in the second round.

Other than the rare loss to the Lions it was business as usual for both the Andover boys' and girls' squads during the recent final week of regular season play.

The boys defeated Lawrence (5-0) and Lowell (5-0), while the girls' completed a perfect 16-0 MVC campaign with three more victories over Chelmsford (4-1), Lawrence (5-0) and Lowell (5-0).

The Chelmsford girls were the only opponent to score a point against the Lady Warriors, who shut out 15 of 16 teams by 5-0 scores.

Coach Tony Russo's eight-time reigning MVC champion girls are now 106-1 in their last 107 league matches, and 114-6 in their last 120 overall.

Coach Mike Wartman's boys are 121-9 in the last 130 MVC matches and 144-16 in their last 158 including tournament play.

Andover boys

The Golden Warriors, beaten 4-1 by Chelmsford the first time around, had victories by sophomore Dan Queen at No. 3 singles and the second doubles team of sophomore Jon Iarrobino and junior John Faldetta in the 3-2 title clash.

Queen came from behind to beat the Lions' Ryan Forcier 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, while Iarrobino and Faldetta outlasted Andy Shupe and German exchange student Alex Ilse 6-4, 0-6, 6-3.

AHS opens tourney with wins

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' and girls' tennis teams opened their runs for Eastern Mass. and State Division 1 Team Tournament championships in grand style last weekend, the boysacing Winchester and Framingham out of post-season play with consecutive 4-1 victories while the girls routed Lexington 5-0.

Andover is in the Division 1 Tournament for only the second year, the boys having bowed out in the North Sectional semifinals last year with a 3-2 loss to Brookline.

Prior to that the AHS boys won four consecutive Eastern Mass. North titles in Division 2, losing in the State final three straight years (1987-89) to Sharon High and in the State semifinal to Duxbury High (1990) before being elevated.

The Lady Warriors have not been as successful in tournament play through the years, their best showing a berth in the Eastern Mass. Division 2 North semifinals in 1990.

Andover boys, 4-1

The Golden Warriors flexed their tournament tennis muscles immediately, ousting previously-undefeated No. 3 seed Winchester 4-1 in the first round.

It wasn't as easy as it looks, however, with three of the four Andover victories coming in tough three-set struggles.

Junior Eric Block and sophomore Dan Queen won singles matches against the Middlesex League champs, who bowed out 14-1 overall.

Block had an easy time disposing of the Sachems' Steve Lusero 6-0, 6-2 at No. 2 singles.

Queen engaged in a marathon three-setter at No. 3 singles, edging Dave Serrattino 6-3 in the deciding set after the evenly-matched opponents had split a pair of 7-6 tiebreakers. Queen took the first tiebreaker 7-1 and Serrattino the second 7-5.

Junior Eric Block lost a tough three-setter to Kevin Branco, winning the second set 6-3 but losing the first and third by identical 6-2 scores.

The first doubles tandem of Co-Capt. Doug Cullen and junior Erik Dahlstrand, which earned the only point against Chelmsford in the first match, were swept aside 6-2, 6-1 this time by the Lions' Matt Ireland and Ross Myslivec.

The score was tied 2-2 with No. 1 singles player Paul Bernardin of AHS and Eric Kaplan the last to finish. Kaplan, undefeated in league play, clinched MVC Player-of-the-Year honors and capped the victory with a 6-3, 6-3 triumph.

"It was a great high school match and we lost to an outstanding team," said Coach Wartman. "There was pretty good crowd there, including members of the Andover baseball and Chelmsford softball teams who had both played in the vicinity of the AHS courts. They made a lot of noise and it was good to see the interest and spirit."

"The competition was intense in first and second singles, as well as second doubles," continued Coach Wartman.

"The first set between Bernardin and Kaplan went back and forth before Kaplan broke away, and then Kaplan controlled the second set. Paul (Bernardin) had trouble serving. He was struggling with it and that put a lot of pressure on him to return well. Unfortunately for us Kaplan appeared at the top of his game."

Kaplan prevailed despite a back problem that forced him to bow out while leading 5-4 in the first set of the Round-of-16 at the Eastern Mass. Individual Championships.

"The match of the day was at third singles were Queen and Forcier played a marathon," noted Wartman. "There were a lot of long volleys because both are steady players that don't make many unforced errors. Dan was down 0-3 in the third set and it looked bleak, because we trailed 2-1 in the team score. But he battled back (winning

Andover swept the doubles

The No. 1 tandem of junior Erik Dahlstrand and Co-Captain Doug Cullen lost to Peter French and Tony Cella of Winchester 3-6 in the first set, but then rallied to win the second set 7-6 with a 7-4 tiebreaker. The deciding set was close from start to finish before the AHS pair pulled away to a 6-4 decision.

The undefeated No. 2 team of sophomore Jon Iarrobino and junior John Faldetta were seasaw 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 winners over Cliff Swapp and Tim Malcolm.

Andover boys, 4-1

Bay State League power Framingham (17-3) also put up a strong fight in the North Sectional quarterfinals, but Andover won a pair of three-set matches and capped one sweep with a second-set tiebreaker victory.

The Golden Warriors went 3-0 in singles, with Paul Bernardin rallying past Dan Aronson 4-6, 7-5, 6-4 to set the tone.

Red-hot Eric Block cruised 6-0, 6-1 against Mike Shapiro, and Dan Queen outlasted Adam Levy 7-6 (7-5 tiebreaker), 3-6, 6-4.

Jon Iarrobino and John Faldetta continued their consistent play by stunning Framingham's previously-undefeated Sheel Saxena-Clay Cohen team 7-6 (7-3), 6-3 at second doubles.

Erik Dahlstrand and Doug Cullen were beaten for only the third time this season, dropping a 6-1, 7-6 (7-4) verdict to Jason Cohen and Sean Grogan.

Andover girls, 5-0

AHS is well-represented on All-Conference tennis squads

The Andover High girls' and boys' tennis teams are well-represented on the 1992 MVC All-Conference squads, with both Warrior powerhouses placing two singles players and a doubles team among the elite.

Sophomore Alison Georgizian was voted Merrimack Valley Conference Player-of-the-Year on the girls' side.

Kim Heller was chosen second singles All-Conference, while Julie Doherty and Beth Everett were selected at first doubles.

Athletes from the Lady Warriors' undefeated league championship team picked as MVC All-Stars were Carrie Green at third singles, and Nathalie LeMaitre-Kara Gack at second doubles.

Senior Co-Captain Paul

Bernardin earned first singles All-Conference for the Andover boys, finishing second to Chelmsford's Eric Kaplan in balloting for Player-of-the-Year honors.

Dan Queen is All-Conference at third singles, while Erik Dahlstrand and Doug Cullen were picked at first doubles.

MVC All-Stars are Eric Block at second singles and the John Faldetta-Adam Ferry duo at second doubles.

MVC tennis Coaches-of-the-Year are Bob Murphy (Chelmsford boys) and Peter Brumis (Wilmington girls).

Youngsters capture top spots at karate and kung fu championships

Five local young martial artists from Yang's Martial Arts Association captured two first, one third, one fifth and one sixth in their respective divisions at the fifth annual Tokyo Joe Classic Karate and Kung Fu championship Sunday, May 17. They are Stephen Gaines, 8, of Andover, and Bobella Tes, 10, of Lawrence, first place; Shawn Gaines, 10, third place; Mike Rogers, 12, fifth place; and Mathew Wojtkun, 8, sixth place, all of Andover.

The classic is a regionally-rated karate and kung fu tournament held annually at Nashua.

N.H., High School. There were more than 650 entrants and most divisions had 20 or more competitors.

"I am very excited for them," said Alex Kiesel, their coach and chief instructor. He described his students as extremely dedicated to their art, diligently practicing for many hours before the event and said all his students showed excellent sportsmanship at the tournament.

Yang's Martial Arts is beginning its fifth year of bringing the skill and knowledge of martial arts to the community.

AHS swim team holds banquet

Head coach Rick Battistini and assistant coach Abby Robb presented letters to freshmen Chris Blongiewicz, Dave Burke, Din Kagalwala, Greg Litchfield, Dave Mazin, Ian Sakowich and Adam Schoen.

Sophomores Tim Connors and Nathan Winers received second year letters. Juniors Mark Elzweig and Ethan Krasnoo and seniors Tom Bonier and Greg Davie received first year letters. Juniors Ben Mazi, Matt Liberty and Adam Robb and seniors Dave Bevacqua, Brad Litchfield and Manu Sharma were presented third year letters.

Senior co-captains Chris DeMartino and Matt Jennings and Brian Mayberry were four year letter winners.

Each year the team presents awards in three categories. Tom Bonier received the Blue and Gold team spirit award; Tim Connors was named Most Improved; and Matt Liberty and Brian Mayberry were Most Valuable.

The Golden Warrior Wave completed its first undefeated season in the MVC, capping the year with the conference championship title by van-quishing the previously undefeated Chelmsford Lions.

Scoring at the championships were Liberty, first in the 100-yard butterfly and 500-yard freestyle; Jennings, first in the 200-yard individual medley and second in the 100-yard backstroke; Schoen, first in the 200 free and fourth in the 50 free; Mayberry, second in the 100 free and third in the 100-yard breaststroke; Blongiewicz, second in the 200 I.M. and seventh in the 100 back; DeMartino, third in the fly and fifth in the 50 free; Burke, fourth in diving; Robb, fifth in the 200 and 500 free; Sharma, fifth in the 100 free and ninth in the 50 free; Connors, sixth in the breaststroke and 12th in the I.M.; Ben Mazin, sixth in the fly; Davie, seventh in the breaststroke; Bevacqua, 12th in the 500 free; and Greg Litchfield, 12th in diving.

Andover scored a first, second, two thirds and two eighth places finished of the six relays teams they fielded.

Two thirds of the team, 14 swimmers and divers, qualified for the North Sectional championship meet: Bevacqua and Blongiewicz, ninth in the 200 I.M.; Burke, 10th in diving; Connors, six of the next seven games) to win and tie the team match 2-2.

"We never really hit stride in first doubles. The last time we played them Cullen and Dahlstrand were a little hotter (than Ireland and Myslivec), but this time it was Chelmsford's turn."

Those two teams ended up sharing MVC All-Conference honors.

"Our second doubles (Iarrobino Faldetta) won a tough first set, then were blown away in the second set," said Wartman. "But they got it back together for the third set in a match of great momentum shifts."

In the 5-0 makeup romp over Lawrence with a makeshift lineup the next day, straight-set singles victories went to three doubles players. Doug Cullen romped (6-0, 6-2) at No. 1. Adam Ferry cruised (6-1, 6-1) at No. 2 and Andy Cohen rolled (6-2, 6-3) at No. 3.

Doubles winners were sophomore Mike McCarthy and senior Thera Palanisamy (6-2, 6-1) at No. 1, sophomore Rick Crispo and Adam Monahan (6-3, 6-2) at No. 2.

In the 5-0 whitewash of Lowell singles victors were Co-Capt. Paul Bernardin (6-2, 6-0) at No. 1, Dan Queen (6-2, 6-0) at No. 2 and Adam Ferry (6-0, 6-0) at No. 3.

Jon Iarrobino and John Faldetta were 6-4, 6-1 winners at first doubles, while sophomore Kevin Sharkey and James Yu prevailed 6-1, 6-1 at second doubles.

Members of the Ironstone 4-H Club gathered recently to participate in a fitting and showmanship show. Year-end awards were also given out.

Local 4-H club ends busy year

Parents and friends of members of the Ironstone 4-H Club of Andover gathered at Ironstone Farm Sunday, May 17, to watch members participate in a fitting and showmanship show and year-end awards ceremony. Although officially a "horse" club, the farm-based organization devoted much of its time to community service activities this past year.

A day in October was spent working the Topsfield Fair 4-H Coffee Shop with proceeds providing scholarships for 4-H teens. Their Pumpkin/Christmas project used money raised by growing and selling pumpkins at Ironstone Farm to provide Christmas for a needy family in Lawrence, send food and supplies to the poor of Jamaica and buy Christmas gifts for a home for abused children. In December, donkeys, goats and ponies were supplied by the farm and handled by the members for the West Parish Christmas Pageant. And members spent time during the spring months helping Girl Scouts with Ironstone's horses to earn their horse lover badges.

At the awards ceremony, Katie McClune of Andover received the Best Big Sister award, given by leaders Dick Donovan, owner of Ironstone, and Deedee O'Brien of Lowell, for her devotion to helping younger members of the club throughout the year. Sarah Hamilton, also of Andover, won the Essex County recognition for her records in community service.

As a last project of the year, the membership voted to buy a full page ad in the annual Fathers' Day "Mini-Show" ad book, the major fundraiser providing sponsorships for people with handicaps to participate in the Challenge Unlimited therapeutic riding program based at Ironstone.

All-star football game benefits Shriners

The 14th annual Shriners High School All-Star Football Classic, the Massachusetts annual showcase of high school football, is scheduled for Friday, June 19, at Boston University's Nickerson Field, with kick-off at 7:30 p.m.

An appreciation banquet for players, coaches, officials and families and friends, will be held Wednesday, June 17, at the Shriners Auditorium

Andover sweeps Exeter as PA wraps up spring season

By Rick Harrison

Phillips Andover Academy wrapped up its 1992 spring sports season in style recently, sweeping to victories over arch-rival Phillips Exeter in baseball, softball, boys' and girls' track and boys' lacrosse.

The baseball team finished 12-6 overall with a 13-4 romp, Andover resident Gus Quattlebaum firing a nine-inning five-hitter and blanking Exeter over the final four frames.

Andover residents figured prominently in the offense as well, leadoff batter Mike Sullivan and Quattlebaum scoring three runs apiece while Sullivan, freshman shortstop Todd Harris, sophomore second baseman Brian Flanagan and first baseman Paul Lisiak contributed one hit apiece. Mike Famiglietti also saw action at third base.

Flanagan and Quattlebaum had two RBI apiece and Harris one for the Prep School Tournament runner-up.

The softball team went to 9-4 with a 21-2 romp, Jessie Drench tossing a five-hitter to remain undefeated (5-0) while Leah MacLean had three hits and Jess Hatfield rapped two hits and scored three runs.

In the lacrosse showdown between twin New England Prep School powers, Phillips Andover (13-1) belted Phillips Exeter (11-3) by a 19-6 score to clinch the Eastern New England Prep School Conference championship.

A 14-1 first half blitz told the story, as Charlie Parsons had four goals and four assists, Dave Jackson five goals and two assists, Jeff Jollon three goals and four assists for the locals.

The Phillips Andover boys' track team, 7-2-0 with one of the losses to Andover High (75-70), edged Exeter 79-66.

Phillips Andover won 12 events, with Andover resident Jim Eckles capturing the pole vault (11'0") and double wins coming from North Andover's Ethan Philpott in the shot put (53'4") and discus (140'1"). Trevor Bayliss in the 800 meters (2:03.3) and 1,500 meters (4:14.7), Jamil Madati in the 110-meter hurdles (14.9) and 300-meter hurdles (40.8), and Azuka Ugwonal in the 100 meters (11.0) and 200 meters (23.5).

The undefeated Phillips Andover girls' track team improved to 9-0-0 with a 90-46 romp over Phillips Exeter.

Andover won 12 events, including a double by Becky Dowling in the discus (111'8") and javelin (99'7"). Susan Crowe of North Andover set a school record of 16.0 while winning the 100-meter hurdles, and she also finished second in the long jump and triple jump.

The baseball and softball games were played in Exeter, while the track and lacrosse was contested in Andover.

Phillips regular term students are currently finishing their exams and will leave the campus this weekend. Seniors graduate from PA on Sunday.

Football Parents hold open golf tourney

The Andover Football Parents Organization will hold its first open golf tournament June 29 at the Andover Country Club. Celebrity and surprise guest will be playing. The day will begin at 6:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast, golf starts at 7:30 and a luncheon will conclude the event. Entry fee is $110 per person, which includes both meals, green fees with use of a cart and prizes. A new car may be won for a hole-in-one at a designated hole. Corporate fee is $500 per foursome, which includes a tee sponsor. Businesses may advertise with a sign at a tee by becoming a sponsor for $100.

Foursomes are already being filled. Deadline for registration is May 31. Entry fees may be mailed to AFPO, Al Guibord, 3 Shadow Lane. Call Mr. Guibord at 475-4297 to become a sponsor or donate a prize. Proceeds will benefit the Andover High football team.

In a very closely fought game, the Waltzes' Tina Baraby scored in the fourth period, assisted by Lindsay Ravens. It was a well played game. In the fourth quarter in particular there was a great shot on goal by Cara Chiaraluce.

BOW: Michele Leary, Maura McConville and Laura Stone (Cha Chas); Elizabeth Henderson, Rachel Greer and Rachel Harkins (Waltzes).

LITTLE LEAGUE

Yankees 6 - Red Sox 2

Ned Yetten pitched six innings, striking out seven, as the Yankees posted their fifth win. Key hits came in the second inning from Matt Mahoney, Ryan Hanigan and Mike Ravens, who combined for four hits and five RBIs. Chuck Sobieck, Aron Bellorodo and Rob Oppenheim turned in sound play for the Red Sox.

Yankees 9 - White Sox 1

Effective pitching by Ryan Hanigan and Matt Mahoney kept White Sox bats silent. Bob Rawlinson and Scott Mackin had two hits each. Jordan Fuhr did a fine job in his first attempt behind the plate. Chris Sempere and Matt Redmond were defensive standouts for the White Sox.

Red Sox 12 - Orioles 6

Rob Oppenheim pitched three shutout innings while striking out four. He also had three hits and three RBIs. Arnold Ross and Mike Alberico were solid defensively. Orioles' Scott Ciruso pitched well in relief. Dan Lombard and Tim Witman each had singles.

Red Sox 9 - Twins 1

Red Sox rookie Charles Daher pitched three effective innings and Chuck Sobieck finished in relief. Nick Branzetti had two hits and two RBIs and Adam Espinola added two RBIs with a single. Twins' Jeff Cutler had strong four innings at the mound and a long single off the fence.

Red Sox 8 - White Sox 1
Chuck Sobieck and Rob Oppenheim combined great pitching and offense as the Red Sox moved their record to 9-1. Charles Daher added a double and Aron Bellorodo was strong behind the plate. Chris Sempere, John Hogan and Billy McPhee had the White Sox hits.

Twins 6 - Pirates 5

Pat Dennehy pitched for six innings and added two hits and two RBIs. Pete Maguire, Rob Berberian and Jared Feinberg supplied the other Twins' hits. Jeff Cutler did a fine job at shortstop. Sean Lawton had three hits for the Pirates and Tony Belincau added a double.

Braves 8 - Pirates 1

The Braves took sole possession of first place by winning their last five games in a row. Nick Guild and Pat Annesse pitched a three-hitter, striking out 16 for the Braves' victory. Steve Vickers had four hits, including three doubles, while Mark Tropeano and Peter Robins had three hits each. Gurdon Reynolds, Peter Bernaden and Andy Marshall had the Pirates' hits.

Tigers 9 - A's 5

David Weiner was the winning pitcher with relief from Alex Tommasino and Danny Gosselin. Rob Busby, Jeff Bellistri, Tom Hartwell and David Weiner had two hits each. Elliot Sykes and Charlie Nahman each had two hits for the A's.

Braves 11 - White Sox 2

Alex Tommasino was the winning pitcher. Andrew Bonner hit a solo homer for the Red Sox.

White Sox 13 - Giants 5

Greg Laflamme and Brian Anthony held the Giants to five runs. Greg Wojtkon homered for the Sox and Robert and Albert Kwon had key hits for the Giants.

Mets 9 - Red Sox 4

Strong pitching by Billy Kearns, Phil DiBlasi and Joe Sciolla keyed the Mets' win. Matt Clark had two hits and Keith Grant had two doubles. Ryan Games and David Sullivan had hits for the Red Sox.

A's 3 - Pirates 1

Mark O'Sullivan pitched the complete game to get the win. Jeremy Schofield singled and had two RBIs. Ryan Daniels and Danny Kelley each had doubles for the Pirates.

A's 12 - Tigers 9

Shaun Connor was the winning pitcher and went the distance. Henry Matos hit a bases-loaded double to clear the bases. Mark O'Sullivan had two hits while Kevin Farrar made two great catches in centerfield. Danny Gosselin, Rob Vallee and Eddie Yates paced the Tigers' attack.

Tigers 14 - Red Sox 4

Alex Tommasino and Danny Gosselin each had two hits. David Weiner was the winning pitcher with help from Tommasino, Jason Monarcha and David Sullivan each went two-for-four and Andrew Bonner tripled.

Braves 13 - White Sox 12

Trailing 12-2, the Braves staged a dramatic comeback. Adam Tripi knocked in the winning run. Nick Guild came in to shut down the White Sox in the final inning. Brian Anthony and Greg Wojtkon led the White Sox hitting attack.

Pirates 11 - A's 8

Red Sox 15 - Giants 10

Jamie Howard and Brian Cutler combined to get the winning pitching. Ross Fenten and Bobby Cronan were the hitting stars along with Jason Monarcha's triple. Albert Kwon and Matt Herling were a perfect four-for at the plate for the Giants.

Red Sox 10 - Mets 7

Brian Cutler, Jeff Arleque and Jason Monarcha keyed the Red Sox hitting attack. Ryan Games was the winning pitcher. Joe Sciolla, Phil DiBlasi and Andy Pojasek were the Mets' leading hitters.

Pike School holds sports banquet

The annual sports banquet at the Pike School was held recently. The event recognized every student who played on a team during the year. Varsity players received letters; junior varsity players received certificates. Several players received special awards.

The girls' and boys' athletic trophies, recognizing eighth- and ninth-graders for outstanding sportsmanship, were awarded to eighth-grader Rory MacKean of West Newbury and ninth-grader Stefanie Santangelo of Andover. Recipients of the Kerri Kattar Awards for athletic ability and enthusiasm were eighth-grader Lael Byrnes of Salem, N.H., and ninth-grader Douglas Worthen of North Andover.

Bethany Caruso of Andover and Taylor Harmeling of North Reading received the Bullard Award given to sixth-grade students who love sports and have an unfailing regard for opponents as well as teammates.

YMCA will teach swimming at your pool

The Lawrence YMCA, 40 Lawrence St., Lawrence, will offer its backyard pool program again this summer. The program consists of highly trained and experienced swim instructors who travel to your home to teach you, your children and neighborhood children how to swim. Children learn through the National YMCA Progressive Swim Program (non-swimmer through advanced). There are four sessions throughout the summer, beginning June

29. For an application or more information, call Craig Wilson at the Lawrence YMCA.

South Church 5K race set for June 20

The South Church Steeple Chase 5K road race and walk will be held Saturday, June 20. The T-shirts feature a unique design by Ed Parker that make them "one-of-a-kind." The first 200 entrants get their T-shirt free.

The Steeple Chase will begin at 8:30 a.m. Runners, joggers, walkers and wheel-chairs will leave the line at once for the 3.1 mile jaunt. All finishers will receive a certificate and there will be awards for the first three finishers in each category.

A special category is being added to the race: 12 and under for both boys and girls.

All those who enter the Steeple Chase and receive a number will also receive another benefit. Whirlaway, Methuen's running and golf supply store, will supply the numbers and offer $5 off the purchase price of a pair of running shoes to anyone who brings in his or her number from the Steeple Chase.

Following the race, a breakfast will be available in the church "fellowship hall" for a reasonable price. South Church member Candy Dann and the other organizers of the breakfast promise lots of good food.

The proceeds from the Steeple Chase and breakfast are going to the fund to restore the South Church Steeple.

Library seeks book donations

In these times of budget cuts, Memorial Hall Library is buying fewer copies of popular books.

Readers who have purchased and read one of the following titles and are willing to donate it to the library should speak to someone at the circulation desk.

Anyone donating one of these titles will receive a coupon good for a free video rental and the library will put a book plate in the book to acknowledge the gift.

Here are some of the best sellers the library is looking for: Night over Water, Follett; Loves Music, Loves to Dance, Clark.

Also, The Sun of All Fears, Clancy; Cape Cod, Martin; The Firm, Grisham; Pastime, Parker; Paradise, McNaught.

Also, As the Crow Flies, Archer; Flowers in the Rain, Pilcher; Massachusetts, Zaroules; Heart-beat, Steel.

Owner Frank Moreau

Ace Upholstery Company, Inc.

This is the appropriate time of year to spruce up patio and sunroom furniture by updating the fabric and cushions. Ace Upholstery Company, Inc. offers many new colors and styles to match or contrast to coordinate your color scheme. Popular new pastel and stripe fabrics are available, along with traditional styles. Owner Frank Moreau carries Sunbrella custom fabrics made especially for the outdoors. This fabric is solution dyed to give excellent fade and weather resistance. It offers ease of maintenance. Simply brush off any loose dirt, hose down and clean with a mild solution of natural soap in lukewarm water and rinse thoroughly.

Ace Upholstery also reupholsters camping and boat cushions as well as automobile and boat interiors.

Frank Moreau is assisted by craftsmen skilled in cutting, stitching, making patterns, fine tailoring and custom fitting. Every area of the shop is open to customers who may watch the transformations being performed in the workrooms. All work takes place on the premises by experienced craftsmen whose workmanship is fully guaranteed.

Ace Upholstery offers much more than expert craftsmanship in reupholstering. Furniture frames are reconditioned, cushions replaced, antiques restored and woodwork refinished. Window treatments, including draperies, cornice boards and valances, are made and installed. Ace Upholstery, Inc. makes custom head boards, upholstered bed frames and mirrors. Custom made sofas and chairs can be ordered to fit the available space.

A shop-at-home service is available along with advice on interior decorating to help coordinate the decor. They offer free pickup and delivery.

Ace Upholstery Company is located at 164 South Union St., in Lawrence and is open Monday through Friday from 8 to 5 and Saturday from 8 to 1; evenings by appointment. Telephone: 683-2542.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Dennis J. Edmondson and Alan P. Xenakis to Arlington Trust Company, dated July 10, 1987 and recorded with the Essex County (North District) Registry of Deeds in Book 2543, Page 302 (the "Mortgage"), of which Mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said Mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing on the premises conveyed by the Mortgage, the same will be sold at public auction at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, the eighth (8th) day of July, 1992, on the premises conveyed by the Mortgage located at Lot 1, Red Spring Road, Andover, Massachusetts, being all and singular the premises described in said Mortgage (the "Premises") to wit:

A certain parcel of land shown as Lot No. 1 on "Plan of Land in Andover, Mass. drawn for Johnstown Realty Trust, dated June 1987, by Merrimack Engineering Services of Andover, Mass." which plan is recorded in the North Essex Registry of Deeds as Plan No. 10776 and bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHERLY AND

SOUTHWESTERLY by Red Spring Road in three courses measuring 53.21 feet, 80.60 feet, and 155.04 feet;

WESTERLY by land now or formerly of O'Brien 58.25 feet;

NORTHWESTERLY by land now or formerly of O'Brien, land now or formerly of Guerrero and by land now or formerly of Milne in two courses measuring 126.24 and 97.49 feet; and

NORTHEASTERLY by Lot No. 2 on said plan 214.63 feet

Containing 30,001 square feet, according to said plan.

Being the premises conveyed by Johnstown Realty Inc. by deed recorded in said Registry of Deeds immediately prior hereto.

There is also included in the sale all improvements and fixtures located on the premises to the extent the same are part of the realty.

The premises will be sold subject to and/or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, and existing encumbrances of record created prior to the Mortgage or to which the Mortgage has been subordinated of record, if any there be. The premises will be sold subject to outstanding tax liens, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, which by law are considered to be prior to the Mortgage. The premises will also be sold subject to all tenancies or occupation by persons on the premises now and at the time of said auction, which tenancies or occupation are subject to the Mortgage and to all rights or claims in personal property now located on the premises belonging to tenants or occupants, and also to all laws and ordinances including without limitation all building and zoning laws and ordinances.

The highest bidder in the sale of the Premises shall be required to deposit cash, bank treasurer's check, or certified check in the amount of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars at the time and place of the sale of the premises as earnest money to be held at the option of mortgagee as liquidated damages for any breach by such bidder. The balance of the purchase price on the sale of the premises shall be paid in or within thirty (30) days after the date of the public auction at the offices of Kaye, Fialkow, Richmond & Rothstein, 100 Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts at which time the foreclosure deed is to be delivered.

The successful bidder shall be required to sign a memorandum of sale containing the above terms, among other terms, at the public auction sale.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale default in purchasing the premises according to the terms of this notice of sale and/or the terms of the memorandum of sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the mortgagee reserves the right to sell the Premises by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder providing that such second highest bidder shall deposit with the mortgagee, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice to the second highest bidder of the default of the previous highest bidder. The terms of the sale with regard to the delivery of the foreclosure deed, the consideration paid by the second highest bidder and the execution of a memorandum of sale shall be the same as described above.

The mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale and to further postpone any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the adjourned sale date. Other terms, if any, to be announced at the time and place of the sale.

NOTICE OF SALE MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage (the "Mortgage") given by Richard F. Burt and Renee C. Burt ("Mortgagor") to Arlington Trust Company n/k/a Shawmut Bank, N.A. ("Mortgagee") a banking institution licensed as such under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts with principal offices located at One Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts, dated December 30, 1986, and recorded with Essex North District of the Land Registration Office as Document Number 42189, Certificate of Title Number 8606, Book 58, Page 29 of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 3:00 o'clock P.M., on the 23rd day of June, 1992 on the mortgaged premises located at 5 Cheyenne Circle, Andover, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit:
That certain parcel of land situate in Andover in the County of Essex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:
Southeasterly by the northeasterly curved line of Cheyenne Circle one hundred and 01/100 (100.01) feet.

Westerly by lot thirty (30) as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned one hundred eighty seven and 7/100 (187.74) feet.

Northerly by land now or formerly of Frank Ruggiero et al four hundred thirty two and 50/100 (432.50) feet, and Southeasterly by lots twenty one (21) and twenty eight (28) on said plan three hundred ninety five and 21/100 (395.21) feet.

All of said boundaries are determined by the Court to be located as shown on Plan No. 27247C, Sheet 3, drawn by Clinton F. Goodwin, Surveyor, dated October 1, 1971, as modified and approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed with Certificate of Title No. 7242, Book 48, Page 573, and being designated as lot twenty nine (29) thereon.

So much of the above described land as is included within the area marked "Lawrence Electric Company Easement" approximately shown on said plan is subject to easements as set forth in two grants made by James J. Abbot et al to the Lawrence Gas and Electric Company, one dated December 29, 1941, duly recorded in Book 649, Page 59, and other dated February 4, 1942, duly recorded in Book 649, Page 335, as affected by an instrument dated July 30, 1957, duly recorded in Book 858, Page 491.

There is appurtenant to the above described land the right to use all streets and ways as shown on said plan for all purposes for which streets and ways are used in the Town of Andover in common with all others lawfully entitled thereto.

For our title see Certificate of Title No. 8606 duly registered with said Land Registration Office at Book 58, Page 29.

Subject to a prior mortgage given to Arlington Trust Company in the original principal amount of $170,000.00 dated December 30, 1986 and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 42187 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject also to a prior mortgage given to Arlington Trust Company securing the payment of the obligations of the Mortgagor to Arlington Trust Company arising out of a certain $100,000.00 Letter of Credit issued by Arlington Trust Company, which said Mortgage is dated December 30, 1986 and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 42188 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to a Notice of Variance of the Town of Andover to Indian Ridge Development Corp. dated February 5, 1971, and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 21871 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to a Notice of Variance of the Town of Andover to Indian Ridge Development Corp. dated February 25, 1971, and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 21889 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to a Notice of Variance of the Town of Andover to Indian Ridge Development Corp. dated February 23, 1972, and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 22523 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to an Easement of the Massachusetts Electric Company dated July 18, 1978, and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 27924 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to a Certificate of Liens dated March 8, 1985, and recorded with said Land Registration Office as Document No. 37536 on Certificate of Title No. 8606.

Subject to a slope easement reservation and restrictions as contained in a deed from Blood Road Corp. to Blair Kanbar, et al dated September 6, 1978, filed and registered as Document No. 28044.

Said sale shall be subject to and with the benefit of all rights, restrictions, easements, encroachments, improvements, outstanding tax liens, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, betterments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, encumbrances, and matters of occupancy rights of record created prior to the Mortgage or entitled to precedence over the Mortgage, if any.

Terms of Sale: $5,000.00 shall be paid in cash or by certified or bank cashier's check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale and the balance to be paid in cash or by certified or bank cashier's check at the offices of CONNOLLY AND FEINGOLD, One Common Street, Wakefield, Massachusetts 01880, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale.

The Mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale and to further postpone any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the adjourned sale date.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder, providing that said second highest bidder shall deposit with Mortgagee's attorneys, Connolly and Feingold, One Common Street, Wakefield, Massachusetts, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of the default of the previous highest bidder and title shall be conveyed to the second highest bidder within twenty (20) days of said written notice.

Other terms and conditions to be announced at sale.

ANDOVER BANK MORTGAGE APPLICATION APPROVED

When choosing a bank for your mortgage, cost and approval are your most important considerations. So we work overtime to design mortgage alternatives that keep your costs down. For example, our Relock Option is a rate option plan that enables you to lock in a rate during the application process for as long as 60 days. If rates decrease, you can take advantage of the lower rate (one time only) up to five business days prior to closing. And if rates should increase, Andover Bank guarantees you won't go above the rate offered when you applied.

You'll find that an Andover Bank mortgage has no application fee, no secondary market fee, no documentation fee, no escrow maintenance fee, and a very competitive rate. Even after you move into your new home, you will continue to deal directly with Andover Bank for all your mortgage servicing needs. After all, it's my job to see that you get exactly what you want — an approved mortgage at the lowest possible cost.

They also encouraged Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, to get the Department of Community Services and the Shawsheen Extended Day program organizers involved.

Planner appointed

Selectmen approved the town manager's appointment of Susan W. Alovise to the Planning Board. She will complete the term of Carl Byers, who resigned from the board last month after serving six years. The term expires in June, 1995.

Ms. Alovise, of 37 Canterbury St., is an architect, according to Mr. Stapczynski.

She and her husband, Max, have two children, Charles, 9, and Lydia, 5.

Martin Klein, of 4 Old South Lane, was appointed to serve as a trustee of Memorial Hall Library. Mr. Klein will complete the term of Melissa Morris Danisch through June, 1990.

Thomas Siopes named police sergeant

Police officer Thomas F. Siopes was appointed the rank of sergeant, effective Nov. 10, 1986, by selectmen Monday night, three months after he won a court suit against the town for discriminating against him.

Mr. Siopes, president of the police patrolmen's union, sued the town alleging he was passed over for promotion back in 1986 because of his union activities. He won his case earlier this year and the town was ordered by the state appeals court to promote him to sergeant and give him the back pay to 1986 due that rank.

After the formalities of the promotion, which did not include handshakes, Sgt. Siopes asked board members when he could expect his back pay. Sgt. Siopes said the pay plus interest amounts to about $112,000 according to his figures. Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, has said the figure is between $70,000 and $90,000.

Selectmen deferred the question to Mr. Stapczynski, who said a letter had been sent to Mr. Siopes' attorney last week requesting a meeting to discuss the issue of the back pay.

Officer Siopes has been out sick since he suffered chest pains on the job in December of 1991. He has since had angioplasty surgery to clear a blockage in one artery. Monday night he said he is probably going to need at least one more similar operation.

He and his wife, Nancy, said they have taken a second mortgage out on their house and that the back pay due them is needed to pay bills.

Other business

The board approved a revised plan by Family Bank of Haverhill to construct a glass awning over the front entrance to the Barnard Building at 10 Main St.

A similar proposal was denied earlier this spring when both the Massachusetts and Andover historical societies voiced opposition to it. The revised plan does not call for any awning over the Park Street entrance to the building and reduces the impact on the structure of the building by the front awning.

Both the state and local historical societies approved of the new proposal and selectmen thanked The Bruk Co., property managers, for working with the historical people in resolving the differences in the proposals.

The board approved acceptance of the conservation restriction on "open space" owned by the Cormier-Andover Greenbelt Corporation, the trust set up to oversee the land set aside as open space in the Andover Country Club subdivisions.

Anthony R. Silva Jr., of 49 Juniper Road and a former Lawrence city councilor, gave selectmen a copy of an ordinance passed in Lawrence in 1985 aimed at curbing graffiti. Mr. Silva suggested selectmen consider adopting such an ordinance here.

The gist of the proposal would prohibit sales of spray paint or indelible markers to person under 18 years old.

Selectmen said they would consider the proposal.

Selectman Larry Larsen said he had several complaints about the poor sound system used outside Memorial Hall for the Memorial Day ceremonies last week. It is being researched.

Saba drops out of Senate race

Andover lawyer Kevin Saba, a Democrat, dropped out of the race for Patricia McGovern's Senate seat this week.

Deadlines for withdrawal was May 29. He is the second to drop out. John Housianitis, of Lawrence, has also dropped out.

Left in the race are John D. O'Brien of Andover, Paul D. Lambert and William Wall of Lawrence, and Michael McLaughlin of Billerica, all Democrats. Republicans running are Brian Cangiamila of Billerica and James J. Gaffney of Tewksbury. Michael Fabiano of Tewksbury is seeking the seat as an independent. The 2nd Essex and Middlesex district includes Andover, Lawrence, Tewksbury and Billerica.

Quiz reveals seafood's popularity, importance

Seafood has become an important part of the American diet and health trend. Many people trying to reduce the amount of fat they eat are including more seafood in their meals.

The consumption of seafood is up by 20 percent over the past decade and the trend is continuing. A recent survey by the Food and Drug Administration reports that 93 percent of Americans eat fish.

Fish may be taking a bigger bite out of your food budget, but how much do you know about this popular food? The following seafood quiz will let you test your IQ about the catch of the day.

1. The 1988 per capita consumption of seafood in the United States was: (a) six pounds, (b) 10 pounds, (c) 16 pounds, (d) 20 pounds.

2. What percentage of seafood (approximately) consumed in the United States is imported? (a) 10 percent, (b) 25 percent, (c) 50 percent, (d) 65 percent

3. U.S. consumers eat more of this seafood than any other: (a) shrimp, (b) canned tuna, (c) fresh or frozen fillets and steak, (d) salmon.

4. One of the reasons people are eating more seafood than ever before is that they are inexpensive and economical dishes. (a) True, (b) False.

5. Which food contains the least amount of fat? (a) Four ounces of lean ground beef, (b) four ounces of halibut, (c) three pieces of fried, drained lean bacon, (d) two ounces of cheddar cheese.

6. Which food contains the least amount of cholesterol? (a) One egg yolk, (b) three ounces of white tuna canned in oil and drained, (c) a double burger with cheese, (d) eight ounces of whole milk.

7. Seafood products held at 60 degrees F will deteriorate how many times faster than seafood held on ice at 32 degrees F? (a) 2 times, (b) 4 times,

(c) 10 times, (d) 50 times.

8. Parasites in raw seafood are aesthetically unpleasing but are of little health concern. (a) True, (b) False.

9. Struvite crystals are sometimes found in canned seafood products. They are: (a) small pieces of glass, (b) naturally occurring crystals that readily dissolve in diluted warmed vinegar, (c) formed as a result of adding sodium to canned seafood, (d) injury-causing if eaten.

10. The Food and Drug Administration is the federal agency charged with the responsibility of: (a) inspecting seafood caught or processed in this country, (b) inspecting seafood imported into the United States, (c) supporting cooperative efforts with other federal, state and local agencies in conducting seafood inspection programs, (d) all of the above.

The answers:

1. (c) 16 pounds. This includes only commercially caught fish. Fish caught by sport fishermen is in addition to this amount.

2. (d) 65 percent. The United States is one of the largest importers of fish - approximately 3 million tons are imported annually. Included are fish from Canada; shrimp from Ecuador, Taiwan and other Asian countries; salmon from Norway; and orange roughy from New Zealand, just to name a few.

3. (b) Canned tuna, followed by shrimp and cod. These three account for almost half of the total fish eaten in this country.

4. (b) False. Fish are low in fat and, therefore, appealing to consumers. But as demand has increased so has price. Fish once considered to have little commercial value now sell for a pretty penny.

5. (b) Four ounces of halibut. The halibut contains three grams of fat,

Poll: Wine poses no health risks if consumed in moderation

When it comes to friendly socializing over a delicious meal, or when drinking a toast to a happy event is in order, a good glass of wine is quite appropriate and delightful, most Americans agree.

A new poll reveals that an overwhelming majority of Americans - 83 percent - approve of moderate wine consumption and agree that wine is an appropriate beverage to accompany a meal or celebrate a special occasion.

The poll, conducted by SRI Research Center, which is run by the Gallup Organization, also found that most agree moderate wine consumption by responsible adults is safe and does not lead to abuse of illegal drugs.

Eighty percent of those who expressed an opinion - four out of five adults - believe that individuals who consume moderate amounts of wine have about the same likelihood or are even less likely to use illegal drugs than those who abstain from wine consumption. Only 11 percent of those adults surveyed thought moderate wine consumption posed a major health problem.

The poll was conducted on behalf of the National Wine Coalition, an organization comprised of wine makers, industry allies and wine consumers dedicated to preserving wine's social and cultural values and retaining the privilege to act as responsible adults in the selection, purchase and moderate consumption of this traditional beverage without undue restriction.

While only 13 percent of those polled said they consume wine frequently that is, at least once per week - more than half of the respondents (56 percent) said they have recommended or served wine to a friend.

FDA survey: Seafood is low in fat and cholesterol

a four-ounce serving of lean ground beef has 16 grams; three strips of bacon will give you 9 grams; and a two-ounce serving of cheddar cheese weighs in heavily at 10 grams.

6. (b) A three-ounce serving of white tuna canned in oil and drained contains 26 milligrams of cholesterol; one egg yolk, 213 milligrams; a double burger with cheese, 94 milligrams; and eight ounces of whole milk, 33 milligrams.

7. (c) 10 times. Temperature and time are important in maintaining the quality of seafood. As temperature increases, deterioration occurs much faster. To maintain the best quality, seafood should be stored at 32 degrees F either on ice or in the refrigerator. Sports fishermen should take special care to properly ice or chill their catch immediately. Good sanitation and handling procedures are also important in maintaining the quality of seafood.

8. (a) False. Uncleaned, raw or undercooked fish may contain parasites which are unsafe to eat. FDA research has shown, however, that adequate cooking and proper freezing and thawing will eliminate a potential health threat from parasites.

9. (b) Struvite crystals occur naturally in canned fish. To the chemist, struvite is magnesium ammonium phosphate. Why this harmless substance sometimes forms in canned fish is unknown. From time to time, FDA receives reports from consumers who believe that they have found glass in canned fish. A good way to check is to place the crystal in a small amount of heated vinegar. Struvite will dissolve; glass won't.

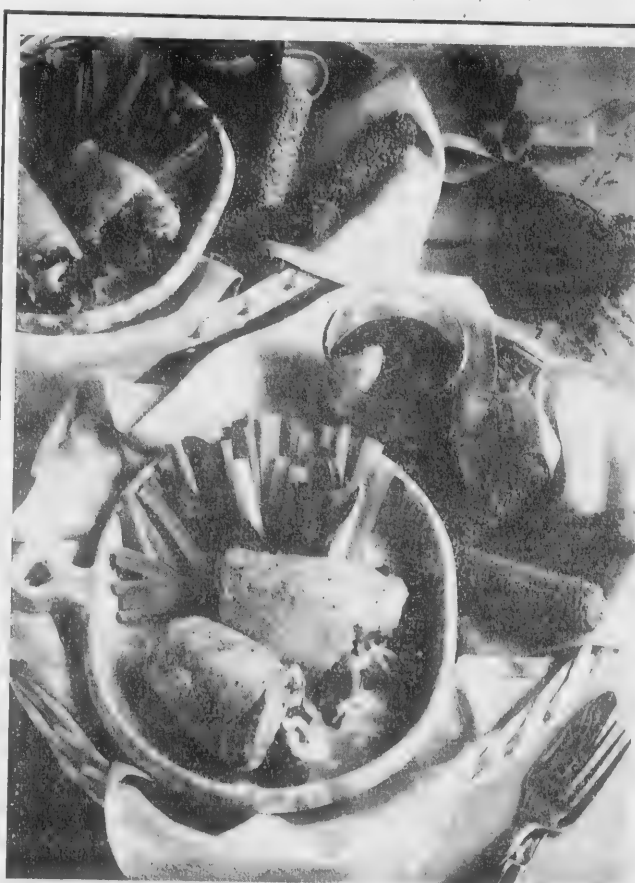

10. (d) All of the above. The FDA has primary responsibility for inspection of seafood. This includes fish grown on farms, fish caught and processed in this country, and imported fish. The FDA works with the National Marine Fisheries Service to improve seafood's safety.

An apple a day – good advice

New research results indicate apples have 37 percent more fiber and 26 percent fewer calories than before. Soluble fiber, the type found in apples, has been shown to lower blood serum cholesterol levels.

High cholesterol has been linked to cardiovascular disease – the leading killer of Americans.

The study, conducted by the Produce Marketing Association, says apples provide 5 grams of fiber.

Boneless, skinless chicken breasts stuffed with ripe plum tomatoes, mozzarella cheese and fresh seasonings make the perfect meal for two.

He works 50 to 60 weekly hours cooking

By Neil Fater

It's a shame. Robert Wood has a problem. He used to love food. But now he can't even stand to look at some of it.

"I always loved food. I'd eat constantly," said Mr. Wood. "But (now) your basic foods, I do get sick of looking at."

Then again, what else could be expected from a man who works 50 to 60 hours a week in a kitchen preparing meals?

Robert Wood is a chef at the Andover Marriott in West Andover. Although he is currently handling banquets for the hotel, he has been cooking for quite some time. In fact, the 21-year-old started working in kitchens while he was still at Doherty Junior High.

"My first job started me in a restaurant as a dish washer," he said of his beginning at the Andover Country Club. "I started to see the different entrees and I started getting interested."

It was an interest that caused him to go to Johnson and Wales, a two-year school in Providence as renown for its culinary school as Mr. Wood hopes he will be for his show pieces. Although he was also accepted at the Culinary Institute of America, Mr. Wood decided to engage in overt kitchen activity at Johnson and Wales.

"The reason I picked Johnson and Wales was because I had known a couple of people who went down there," he said. "It was only about an hour away; I could keep my job at the Marriott and go to school."

Of course, that would mean a cut in the number of hours a week he could work. Mr. Wood cut his hours to 20 or 25 per week, worked mostly on the weekends. Not exactly a big breather for the Andover High graduate.

So, for three years he traveled back and forth from the small culinary campus in Providence to the Marriott in Andover.

Johnson and Wales' cooking campus has two buildings, one for the kitchens and one for the more academic courses, and the school is run on a tri- as opposed to a semester-basis. Students spend two of their trimesters in kitchens and waiting on other students (or at the back and front of the house, respectively, as Mr. Wood likes to call it), and spend the third studying such table-top topics as food and beverage cost control, menu planning and sanitation, as well as the traditional areas of math and English.

"There are no electives there at all," said Mr. Wood. "Everyone takes exactly the same courses. So you'll go through your Oriental and international cuisine, all your cuisines... Every class runs seven to 10 days and then you move on."

In addition to their aforementioned studies, students at Johnson and Wales must take mixology — in other words, bartending. Each class lasts about seven hours, and when not in the kitchen preparing dishes with about 15 other students, students wait on others in the dining areas.

"You feel like you're in a regular restaurant," said Mr. Wood. "Everyone gets a shot at it."

But few of the nearly 1,000 students who graduated with Mr. Wood this spring had the type of shot he had with the Marriott right out of college.

"In this field there's so much you can do. It's not just being in the back or the front of the house," said Mr. Wood. "It's so hard to get a job now. Say when you graduate, there isn't an opening in the back of the house, you're prepared" to do sales or schedule functions and the like.

Fortunately, this new chef has been able to work in the "back of the house." Plus, as one of Marriott four banquet chefs, he has even been free to "go house" with a few creative ideas of his own.

"You're always trying to get that idea that no one else has come up with," he said.

As it turns out, it is on the holidays that he really gets a chance because he and the other chefs must come up with their own show pieces. Mr. Wood is generally proud of his work, which takes about three or four hours to prepare.

"I usually take a picture of every show piece I do," he said. "Sometimes you get mind block and you say, 'What do you want to do with this?' So you look at your pictures and you might take a little off of this and a little from that."

Apparently his choices of pinches and dashes have been fairly successful as he seems in high demand at the hotel.

"An average week for hours is probably 50. I'd say the most I ever worked was 72," he said. "The past two months, because it was prom season and a lot of people get married in the spring, it's been busy... Last week I did 64."

In addition, Mr. Wood was named Associate of the Month last November and recently finished a six-month class to become a quality certified trainer. As a QCT he can train any new employee for a particular job.

All of which is not to say that life, since he took a position with the Marriott as a hot prep cook responsible for soups and sauces, has been a bowl of cherries — or even of white fish mousse, as the case may be.

"I've burnt my share of food before. As a matter of fact, Saturday night I had spent about two and a half hours making tricolored mousse," which consists of chocolate, vanilla and raspberry mousses, said Mr. Wood. "There were probably about 100 that I had made. I picked up the tray and lost about 35 of them. The whole tray just went over."

Eating out has become much more difficult for the chef. For one, working from six or seven in the morning to 10 at night doesn't leave much time for him to relax with a fine meal of his own. But it also seems that along with the chef's hat has come a palate nearly equal in finickiness to Morris'.

"You notice everything when you go out. Particularly after being at Johnson and Wales and having the opportunity to serve the front of the house," he said. "I'm always critiquing the food, always. You pick up the little things that the average person wouldn't."

Even his parents haven't been able to enjoy his cooking — neither a sauteed supper nor even a poultry pate have crossed their lips.

"All of my parents' friends think they eat like kings and queens and they're like, 'He never cooks for us,'" he said. "Because I work so much I don't have much time for myself; I don't cook at home."

Fortunately for frequent customers,

This is fine beef prepared by Chef Wood.

though, he does plan to continue cooking up meals at the Marriott. Although he might want his own restaurant some day, he sees that as a long way off.

"I wasn't really sure what I wanted to do about a year ago. But right now I want to stay with the Marriott and move right up the corporate ladder. Hopefully, I'll be executive chef some day."

Of course by that time he might hate food all together.

Mr. Wood is sharing a couple of recipes with readers:

Rob's tequila citrus shrimp

- 8 jumbo shrimp
- 2 tbs. clarified butter
- 3 oz. tequila
- 1/4 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/4 tsp. black ground pepper
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 oranges juiced
- 2 limes juiced

Heat butter in saute pan until hot. Add shrimp until slightly undercooked. Add garlic, reduce heat to medium. Stand back, add tequila, let flame 30 to 45 seconds. Add juices, salt and pepper and reduce heat for one to two minutes. Add cream and let boil until reduced to a thick sauce.

Rob's apple crumb cake

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- Cover with sliced, peeled apples
- Topping:
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 tbs. butter

In an 8 1/2-inch by 12-inch pan, cover the cake mixture with peeled, sliced apples. Sprinkle with topping. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 30 minutes.

COOKING

Cooking with white gold: white asparagus

By Maria Moskos

Recently I had the pleasure of attending the press luncheon at the Andover Inn, which was the kick off for its White Asparagus Festival being held through June 24.

We viewed an informative video presentation about the sowing, harvesting and distribution of white asparagus. Henry Broekhoff, Andover innkeeper, was the narrator.

This was followed by a demonstration by the inn's chef of the proper cooking and eating techniques involved when this delicacy is a part of your menu.

The climax was a buffet luncheon consisting of "white gold" (the name given to white asparagus) with clarified parsley butter and Dutch ham.

Mr. Broekhoff said that this was the most typical way to serve white asparagus in Holland.

Poached salmon, slices of hard-boiled eggs and smoked salmon were also included with a specially chosen Riesling wine.

Since white asparagus are usually not grown in the United States because of our climatic conditions, they are generally not available fresh unless they are flown in from Europe. That's just what the Andover Inn did for the festival: flew in the asparagus.

Some of the white asparagus selections on the lunch and dinner menus at the inn now are Asparagus en Croute with hollandaise sauce, asparagus and leek soup, white asparagus with baked haddock, white asparagus with Dutch ham, white asparagus with parsley butter, white asparagus with prosciutto and white asparagus with rack of lamb.

If you like to prepare fresh white asparagus at home, the

This is a print of Andover artist Lynn Loscutoff's watercolor of white asparagus, commissioned by the Andover Inn in honor of its White Asparagus Festival. More of her work can be seen at the inn, where her work is on exhibit during this month.

Earthfood Store on Chestnut Street has agreed to accommodate the community by having them available for purchase.

How to prepare and cook white asparagus (kindness of Andover Inn)

Peel, cut off hard bottoms and place cleaned asparagus in cold water. Place peels and bottoms in a pot large enough to lay asparagus flat.

Place a clean kitchen towel on top of peels and bottoms, leaving enough of the towel on each side to fold over asparagus.

Lay asparagus on top of towel and cover with water.

Add two ounces of butter and salt. Fold both ends of towel over to enclose asparagus and cover with a lid.

Bring to a boil, then turn down to just below the boiling point. Cook 10 minutes.

the lower end of a stalk to test for doneness. Let them rest 10 minutes in the stock.

Unfold towel and carefully remove asparagus from the pot. Serve warm garnished with slices of hardboiled eggs, crowned with clarified butter and fresh snipped parsley and accompanied by a Riesling wine.

Since white asparagus are usually not grown in the United States because of our climatic conditions, they are generally not available fresh unless they are flown in from Europe. That's exactly what the Andover Inn did: flew them in.

NRA survey compares restaurants, eating habits

A survey was recently conducted among 200 members selected at random from the National Restaurant Association membership, with proportional representation from all 48 continental states.

Some statistics on respondents:

- Seventy-four percent characterize themselves as family service, medium check; 17 percent say they're white-cloth, high-check types; and 9 percent say they're fast-food and carry-out places.

- The sample says 17 percent of their revenues come from breakfast, 30 percent from luncheon, and 53 percent from dinner.

- The average restaurant in the sample redecorates (paints or washes) every 2.5 years, while it completely remodels and refurbishes every 5.7 years.

- The sample says 54 percent of customers prefer to sit in side chairs (no arms), 30 percent like arm chairs, 6 percent like swivel chairs, and 10 percent prefer booths.

Some conclusions:

- Dining out involved companionship, even at breakfast. Most people eat with two persons or more: 38 percent with two or more at breakfast, 48 percent at lunch, 57 percent at dinner.

- Most dining patrons (47 to 59 percent) prefer to sit at tables rather than in booths or at the counter.

- Anywhere from 54 to 61 percent of diners are men.

- Women spend more time at dinner than men (1 hour 35 minutes vs. 1 hour 30 minutes).

- Breakfast averages $1.12 in price, luncheons $1.70 and dinners $3.95. Luncheons and dinners are higher priced at private parties in the same restaurants. Prices have stayed approximately the same over the past year.

- Men tip consistently higher than women: 13 percent vs. 9 percent at breakfast, 14 percent vs. 10 percent at lunch, and 15 percent vs. 12 percent at dinner.

- Tastes in foods vary between men and women. At breakfast, more than two-thirds of men prefer eggs with some form of breakfast meat, while almost half of the women prefer rolls or toast. At luncheon beef is preferred by the men, while the women want salads. At dinner, nearly half the men like steak, while the same number of women prefer seafood.

- Men and women see almost eye to eye on the ordering of dessert; only about a quarter to a third do so.

- Where drinks are available, the men will drink more than the women: 1.5 vs. 1.1 cocktails at lunch, 2.5 vs. 1.5 cocktails at dinner.

- Cash is the preferred method of paying for a meal.
